NAVAL DEBATE STILL PROCEEDS

Brief Suspension Caused by Adjournment Out of Respect for Memory of Late Hon. John Haggart.

NO NOTICE GIVEN OF RULE AMENDMENT

Member for South York Suggests Compromise on the Navy Question—Hochelaga Charges Again Deferred.

OTTAWA, March 13.—A four-hour adjournment out of respect to the memory of the late Hon. John Haggart afforded a little variation in the second week of the debate in the Commons on the naval question. Premier Borden intended to pay his respects to the memory of the oldest member of the House, and would probably have chosen the 6 o'clock hour of adjournment as the suitable time under the circumstances to do so. Earlier in the afternoon, however, in the course of a speech on the navy, Hon. R. Lemieux, in behalf of the French-Canadian Liberals, spoke of the esteem in which the deceased member was held. Premier Borden followed with a warm tribute to the man who held office under four administrations. Then Mr. F. B. Carvell rose, and, after speaking of the regret felt by the English-speaking Liberals, suggested that the House adjourn for a few hours. Mr. Borden assented, and an adjournment from 4 o'clock until 8 o'clock in the evening was agreed upon.

Suggests Compromise

When 4 o'clock came, Mr. W. F. Maclean took advantage of the solemn occasion to suggest to the House that it would be a good time to cease the present warfare and reach a compromise on the navy question.

He suggested that twenty-five millions should be voted for two dreadnoughts and ten millions to be spent on a fleet unit for the Pacific, to be maintained in conjunction with Australia and New Zealand. Such a policy, he said, would be in accordance with both principles now advocated in the House.

At the evening session Premier Borden explained how it was that the Admiralty memo was not received in Ottawa until after the date of Mr. Monk's resignation. The Government based its policy, he said, upon a fuller and confidential document received early in October.

The notice of an amendment to the rules of the House which would involve some form of closure, which, rumor said last night, would be given notice of today, did not materialize. It is understood that the matter is still under advisement, and that nothing will be done before Monday, and perhaps not until after the Easter recess.

As anticipated, the Coderre charges were not proceeded with, through the illness of the Minister and his absence from the House. It was agreed they should be taken on Monday. The speakers between 8 and 11 o'clock were Messrs. Stubbs, of Huntingdon; Mr. Lachance, Quebec West, and Mr. Boyer, Vaudreuil. The latter spoke in French. Mr. Demers, of St. John-Iberville, followed.

Hon. Dr. Beland, one of the leading Liberals, created amusement by going across the floor of the House and posing as a Government leader in the Ministerial benches.

The Hochelaga Charges

Mr. Louis Gauthier, Liberal, rose in his place to refer to the charges affecting the Secretary of State, which he had proposed to lay before the House on Monday last. He deplored the delay which had occurred in bringing this matter to the attention of the House. The illness of the Secretary of State, he said, had delayed the investigation for some time, and the impending adjournment would again interfere with it. It had been stated in some newspapers that he was responsible for this delay. This was contrary to the facts, and did not wish the impression to become general. In spite of sickness at home, he had remained in Ottawa to prosecute this matter, and he was anxious to have an opportunity to do so.

Premier Borden said that Mr. Gauthier had to be commended for his reasonable attitude, and made the definite promise that the matter would be proceeded with either on Friday or Monday. Mr. Borden said he had in his

HUNDRED YEARS OF PEACE

English Scheme for Commemoration Includes Acquisition of Sulgrave Manor—University Chair

LONDON, March 13.—The English scheme for the commemoration of the 100 year peace between Great Britain and America provides for a permanent memorial, and will cost a quarter of a million dollars.

Lord Shaw, who has been prominent in organizing the English arrangements, will head the delegation to the New York meeting at the end of April. His colleagues probably will include W. O. Gladstone, M. P., grandson of the great statesman, Allan Baker, M. P., and Sir William Mathers.

It is proposed to acquire Sulgrave Manor, the Northhamptonshire seat of the Washington family, make it the centre for American visitors and also establish a university chair of Anglo-American history in London, with Right Hon. Jas. Bryce as the first professor.

KAMLOOPS MILL DESTROYED

Fire Sweeps Away Part of Property of Thompson River Lumber Company at Inland City

KAMLOOPS, B. C., March 13.—Fire broke out in the mill of the Thompson River Lumber Company at noon today, totally detroying that tructurse The lumber piles were saved by the brigade, assisted by volunteers.

The damage to the building is estimated at $20,000 and to the accessories at $8,000. The insurance is $7,000.

The company will rebuild its mill without loss of time, as it has many lumber contracts on hand.

CARNIVAL CLAN GETS INTO LINE

Three of the Leading Bodies Will Meet Next Week and Draw Up the Programme of Events—Ready for Work.

Now that the initial work in connection with the organization of the forthcoming Victoria Carnival Week is practically completed, it is proposed that the sub-committees in charge of several of the leading features of the fiesta should get down to business and arrange their respective programmes so that the finance committee and the central executive will be in a position to know how it stands in relation to them, and whether it will be possible to carry out the many ideas connected with them.

The first of these committees to hold such a meeting will be the water events body, and arrangements have been made for Monday afternoon in the rooms of the Real Estate Exchange at 5 o'clock This committee will, in all probability be divided into two sections, one to look after the yachting and the motor-boat racing, and the other to take charge of the programme of events for small craft, such as rowing and canoeing. The committee in charge of the musical arrangements will meet on Tuesday afternoon at the same hour for a similar purpose, and the transportation committee will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30. The object of the transportation committee's meeting is to endeavor to arrange for cheap transportation to and from this city at the time of the Carnival.

Committees Named

None of these committees have yet been called upon to make a definite stand in respect to the various offices entrusted to them, and in order that there should be no doubt in the mind of anyone as to which committee he promised to serve upon the names of members of the three committees referred to are appended.

Water Events Committee—Messrs. D. O. Rochfort (chairman), Dr. W. E. Home, D. Sullivan, J. T. Reid, F. Heim, Harry Skuce, J. Arbuthnot, J. Chambers, J. Sayward, Capt. Troup, H. Cuthbert, Capt. Basil Combe, Paymaster Robb, H. G. Beall, J. B. McCallum, P. R. Pomfret, L. Fullard-Leo, Sheridan Bickers, Wendell Shaw, Hon. A. E. Smith, T. B. Monk, W. H. Kennedy, A. A. Green, Lieut. W. S. Chalmers, M. Crocket, Hugh Hartshorne, B. J. Perry, W. A. Russell.

Musical festival—Messrs. Herbert Kent (chairman), Carl Loewenberg, Gideon Hicks, J. F. Mason, Herbert Leiser, Paul Edmonds, K. W. Macrae, Capt. R. Cullen, Mrs. Robertson, Geo. Phillips, J. C. Johnson, G. E. Hodgson, W. G. Plowright, R. G. Rowland, Herr M. Nagel, A. German.

Will Represent King George.

LONDON, March 13.—It is understood that Prince Arthur of Connaught will represent the King at the formal opening of the new home of the federal parliament in Pretoria next Spring. His Royal Highness will be attended by distinguished representatives of both the navy and the army, and will deliver the speech from the throne.

Submarine Wrecked Boiler.

SEATTLE, March 13.—The United States submarine F-4, which went aground at West Point just outside the entrance to Seattle harbor, was floated at high tide tonight and proceeded apparently unharmed to Port Townsend, where she will undergo her builders' trial.

NAVY ESTIMATES SHOW INCREASE

Building Programme Provides for Five Battleships, Eight Light Cruisers and Several Destroyers and Submarines.

LARGE NUMBER ADDED TO NAVY PERSONNEL

Both Bigger Navy and Little Navy Group of Politicians Are Dissatisfied With Mr. Churchill's Proposals.

LONDON, March 13.—The British naval estimates for 1913-14, which were announced today, total $231,546,500 as compared with $225,377,000 last year. The new building programme provides for five battleships, eight light cruisers, sixteen torpedo boat destroyers and a number of submarines.

The personnel of the navy is to be increased to 146,000 officers and men.

There will be under construction on April 1, eleven battleships, three battleship cruisers, thirteen light cruisers, thirty-five torpedo boat destroyers and twenty-one submarines. During the year now closing four battleships, three battleship destroyers, five light cruisers, fifteen destroyers and three submarines were completed.

The general opinion prevails in the House that the First Lord of the Admiralty has cut the estimates rather fine, although it is conceded that they will meet the views of the country.

Both the "bigger navy" and "little navy" politicians are disappointed. The former declare that the increase ought to be at least $15,000,000 greater, part of this for new ships building. It is urged that the adoption of so large a programme of new shipbuilding means a continuance of the German rivalry.

It is pointed out that at the present moment the shipbuilding resources of the country are so taxed that they do not permit of a larger constructional programme.

Cuban Assassin Convicted.

HAVANA, March 13.—Rafael Perez Pedroso, a former lieutenant of police, was convicted yesterday of the assassination on October 22, 1910, of General Pino Guerrera, while leaving the palace. He was sentenced to fourteen years imprisonment. Of the two other assailants of Guerrera one was convicted and the other disappeared.

HOPES TO FINISH ROAD THIS YEAR

SCARCITY OF LABOR MAY CAUSE DELAY

OTTAWA, March 13.—According to a statement made by M. J. O'Brien, chief contractor for the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway between Quebec and Winnipeg, this stretch of the road will be completed by the end of this year, if nothing untoward happens.

In the course of an interview today Mr. OBrien stated that he expects to have an army of 4,000 men at work on the 750 miles being constructed—that is if he can get that many men. He is anticipating some difficulty in this respect. If the Balkan war is settled very soon it will help considerably, because many men who worked for him last year will likely return. In one week last Fall, after the war started, 600 men, natives of the Balkan states, left him to return home and fight against the Turks.

There are stretches of line between Quebec and Winnipeg that are already in operation. Some are east of Cochrane and some west of that point. It is going to be a big task to finish the road and put it in shape ready for operation by the end of this year, says Mr. O'Brien, but he is going to make a big effort to accomplish it.

Dying From Effects of Fall.

TORONTO, March 13.—Picked up unconscious on the street after he had fallen from a car which he had tried to board, David C. Marsh, aged 45 years, is now lying in the hospital critically ill with erysipelas. After March had been picked up a policeman was sent for and had him removed to the police station and preferred a charge of drunkenness against him. This morning he was in a high fever and quite delirious. A cut on his head received from the fall has become infected, and very little hope is held out for his recovery.

AERIAL FLEET OF BRITAIN

Departure of Detachment of Army Aeroplanes From Farnborough for Montrose Station

LONDON, March 13.—The departure of a detachment of army aeroplanes from Farnborough for Montrose, the new station of the Royal flying corps in Forfarshire, marks an important phase in the development of the aerial land force of the British Isles. A system has been evolved for the formation of flying bases at various centres in the country.

At present the education of naval and military pilots begins at the Central School at Upavon, and after graduation there the pilot is passed to Farnborough to join a squadron of the military wing. Each new unit or squadron is formed at Farnborough, and here the education is completed and the airmen turned out skilful in flying fast machines and the appliances of the craft to military purposes.

When the initial training is completed the squadron is transfered to one of the new stations selected. Montrose is the first station to be formed away from headquarters, and this flight to Scotland is the first transference of a squadron to a country station.

Crude Oil for Locomotives.

OTTAWA, March 13.—Canadian railways generally may adopt the system of using crude oil for generation of their locomotive power in place of coal. Mr. Clyde Levitt, chief fire inspector for the railway commission and the commission of conservation, is now preparing a statement, showing how the installation of this system may prove more advantageous to railways from a financial standpoint.

AGED STATESMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Hon. John Haggart, Member of Commons for Forty-One Years, and Formerly Minister, Passes Away at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, March 13.—Hon. John Haggart, one of the oldest members of the Canadian House of Commons, died at his residence in this city today. He had been ill for the past two months, and owing to his age he was unable to recuperate. During the last few days it was seen he was sinking very rapidly. News of his death was early carried to the House, where regret was expressed by both parties.

The body will be taken to Perth, Ont., in a special car tonight, where the funeral arrangements will be made. His only relative, his sister, Mrs. I. N. Millar, lives in Perth.

The late Hon. John Haggart was born in Perth in 1836 and there on November 13, 1856, he married Caroline Douglas. She died some thirteen years ago. John Haggart was in the milling business before entering public life. In 1867 he became mayor of Perth, which office he held three years.

Long in Public Life

He had sat for South Lanark in the House of Commons continuously since 1872, having succeeded the late Hon. Alex. Morris in the representation of that district.

In 1888 Mr. Haggart was taken into Sir John Macdonald's cabinet as Postmaster-General, continuing in that office after Sir John's death and the formation of Sir John Abbott's ministry. In January, 1892, he was transferred to the Department of Railways and Canals, where he remained throughout the Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper administrations. He was one of the ministers who declared against Sir Mackenzie Bowell and for Sir Charles Tupper as Premier in 1896.

During Mr. Haggart's administration of the Railways and Canals Department he effected reforms in the management of the Intercolonial Railway which left that road with a surplus. He also completed the construction of the canal on the Canadian side at Sault Ste. Marie, furnishing the last link in the canal system of the Dominion.

Tributes Paid in Commons

While taking part in the Naval Bill debate today Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux made reference to the death of Hon. John Haggart. He desired, he said, to express

EVERYONE SHOULD GET ON VOTERS' LIST

All who are qualified are urged to have their names placed on the voters' list at the earliest possible moment. Some misunderstanding seems to prevail as to the need for registration. All the old Provincial and Dominion voters' lists have been cancelled, so that all who want to vote at forthcoming elections, either Federal or Provincial, must register there. Those who fail to do so will have no voice in the public affairs of the country.

Registration forms can be secured and filled in at The Colonist Office daily any hour from now until April 7, when the lists will be closed.

FLEET SEEKING TURKS' CRUISER

Hamidieh, Which Attacked Transports and Killed Many Servians, Is Looked for by Greek War Vessels.

TURKEY UNABLE TO MEET ITS BILLS

Terms to Be Offered by Allies as Basis for Mediation Include Surrender of Territory and Indemnity.

LONDON, March 14.—No more important fighting in the Near East has occurred since yesterday, and the position at Adrianople is unchanged. A strong squadron of Greek warships has had been sent to search for the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh, which, except for the attacks on the Servian transports, appears to have done no serious damage to property at Durazzo and San Giovanni di Medua.

The Durazzo correspondent of The Vienna Reichspost accuses the Servians of burning villages in the neighborhood and thereby causing the deaths of many women and children.

The Turkish Government is unable to meet treasury bills to the amount of $8,250,000, which fell due yesterday. It admitted its liability for 9 per cent interest on defaulted bills still unpaid, and has undertaken to redeem them out of the first loan operations. The majority of the holders, it is stated, will accept this arrangement.

Owing to the postponement of the reply of the Balkan Allies to the Powers regarding mediation, the re-assembling in London of the ambassadorial conference has been deferred, probably until Saturday.

Allies' Terms

BELGRADE, March 13.—A Government newspaper publishes the conditions on which the Balkan Allies are willing to accept the Powers' mediation. Hostilities are to continue until the peace treaty is signed. The basis of the negotiations will be the same as laid before the Ottoman delegates at London on December 3. The frontier lines are to extend from Midia to Rodosto. The Gallipoli Peninsula is to remain in Turkey's possession, but all territory to the west, with the exception of Albania, must be surrendered to the Allies.

CHICAGO ROAD TO INVADE VICTORIA

Head Officials of Great Northwestern Railway Corporation Examine Conditions Prevailing Here.

GREATLY IMPRESSED WITH OPPORTUNITIES

"This is a great country, the greatest for railway development in the world and it is apparent that we will have to invade Canada and go into Vancouver, which means that we will inevitably have to take in Victoria and Vancouver Island."

The foregoing is the terse sentence which Mr. George W. Hibbard, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Puget Sound lines, delivered yesterday while discussing the development plans of the company which he represents.

Mr. Hibbard, is one of the best known railway men in the great Northwest and introduced a party of the leading officials of his line to Victoria. Accompanying Mr. Hibbard were Mr. J. H. Hiland, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, Mr. F. A. Miller, traffic and passenger agent of the line, and Mr. Solly, the local manager. The party was entertained at dinner in the Empress by Colonel Payne of New York, who has been a resident of Victoria for a considerable time, and than whom there is no more staunch believer in the great destiny of this city.

Party Appreciates Victoria.

The party left on the night boat for the Mainland, but before going expressed their unbounded appreciation of the great things which Victoria enjoys as a transportation centre. In the words of Mr. Hibbard: "We are not only

SUIT FOR LARGE AMOUNT

Action Entered by Northern Crown Bank to Recover $400,000 From Lumber Company

CALGARY, Mar. 13.—Action was instituted here today by the Northern Crown Bank against the Great Western Lumber Co. to recover $400,000 advanced in loans to the defendants. The defense contends that the loans were secured by officials of the company without the sanction and approval of the directors, thereby making the loans irregular. This is but one of many points involved, and it is certain that the decision of Chief Justice Harvey will be appealed, both parties having signified their intention of going to the Privy Council if necessary. It is likely the case will be continued from the close of the present sitting on Saturday until next month's session, as the argument of the opposing council will be lengthy.

I. W. W. Editor Sentenced

PATERSON, N. J., March 13.—Carlos Tresca, editor of a magazine published by the Industrial Workers of the World, was yesterday sentenced to two months in jail for disorderly conduct. Tresca led a mob of striking silk mill operatives through the city streets. Recorder James F. Carroll told Tresca in passing sentence that the editor's punishment was light in view of the fact that he was defendant on two charges of inciting riots. Two of the strikers were sentenced to ten to twenty days in jail. Two detective sergeants and two patrolmen were arrested last night charged with grand larceny because they confiscated 5,000 copies of a Socialist publication.

GRAVE ISSUES ARE INVOLVED

French Electoral Reform Bill, Now Before Senate, Will Cause Bitter Fight and Possibly Dissolution.

PARIS, March 13.—A debate fraught with the gravest issues opened in the Senate today. The government electoral reform bill, after being adopted by the Chamber of Deputies on July 10, 1912, was sent to a committee of the Senate which was presided over by M. Clemenceau. The former Premier has now returned the bill, but without the clauses providing for proportional representation.

The debate is likely to be a long and fierce one, as the government makes the principle of proportional representation a question of close confidence, and it is pointed out in the lobbies that refusal of the Senate to vote for this principle is liable to bring about a ministerial crisis, and possibly a deadlock between the two houses which could be settled only by dissolution.

The electoral reform bill, which was adopted by the Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 339 to 217, provides for the abolition of the system of small constituencies established in 1876, whereby each elector votes for one deputy only, and substitutes for it the system of list voting, by which each elector votes for as many deputies as the entire department has to elect. It also introduces a system to provide for the representation of minorities, by which, after the poll is taken the total number of actual voters in the department is divided by the number of seats to be filled, and the seats are then divided proportionately among the candidates for the different parties.

M. Clemenceau has been a bitter opponent to the bill throughout.

Grand Orange Lodge.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 13.—The Grand Orange Lodge in session here today held a regular meeting this afternoon. Bi-lingual schools do not seem to be a burning question just now with the Orangemen. They are waiting to see if the Ontario Government will stick to its announced declaration to enforce the regulations that will not permit the teaching of English to be sidetracked.

Stabbed in Drunken Row.

REBELS CAPTURE TOWN ON BORDER

Nogales Garrison Unable to Withstand Assault of Constitutionalist Force and Take Refuge in Arizona.

LIST OF KILLED AND WOUNDED LONG

American Soldier Is Badly Wounded by Stray Mexican Bullet—Orozco to Take Field Against Rebels.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 13.—Constitutionalists overthrew the Federal garrison at Nogales, Sonora, tonight, and now are in possession of the border town after a fight which continued with little abatement for twelve hours. The casualties are estimated at 100 dead and twice as many wounded on both sides, though an accurate count has not been made.

Private Allen A. Umlest, trooper from the Fifth Cavalry, U. S. A., was seriously wounded by a rebel bullet while doing police duty near the Nogales line here. The shot passed through his face from nose to ear. No other Americans were injured.

The United States soldier was shot after 5 o'clock, when the attack was at its height. Lieutenant-Colonel Tate, in charge of the Fifth cavalry patrol, instantly sent word to General Obregon:

"You have shot one of my men. Cease firing, or I shall be after you at once."

The Surrender.

At the same moment the firing from from the regulars under Generals Kosterlitzky and Reyes slackened. By some preconceived arrangement, Lieut.-Col. Tate, called his bugler and ordered him to sound the Mexican "cease firing" order. The Federal garrison instantly obeyed, but desultory firing continued to come from the besiegers. Col. Obregon succeeding in holding back the fire from his men so that Generals Kosterlitzky and Reyes, with their forces, were able to cross to the United States, where they surrendered to Col. Wilder, Fifth Cavalry, who arrived late to take command of the American troops. The Mexican Federal soldiers stacked their arms before the American troopers and disbanded.

Today's victory of the state troops here practically puts this portion of the insurgent border state in the hands of anti-Huerta forces. Agua Prieta fell yesterday without a shot, and General Ojeda marching to assist Nogales must traverse 100 miles of trail with poor horses and all railways cut between Naco and this point. Naco, a subordinate port to Nogales, remains in the hands of not more than two hundred Federals. At Cananea, the American mining centre below Naco, the Federal garrison has been mingling peacefully with a force of state troops, indicating that no resistance to the almost unavertible landslide against Huerta will be made at this point. Strong detachments of Constitutionalistas from the vicinity below Nogales are pursuing Ojeda's column of some 500 Federal regulars, mostly refugees from the routed Federal garrisons at El Tigre and Nacosari.

Carranza Reported Shot

LAREDO, Tex., March 13.—It is reported that Venustiano Carranza, Governor of Coahuila, who revolted against the Huerta Provisional Government, was captured and shot this afternoon by Federal troops under General Trucy Aubert at a point between Bajana and Monclova. Official confirmation of the execution had not been obtained up to a late hour.

MONTERREY, Mex., March 13.—General Trucey Aubert with eighteen hundred men, arrived from Saltillo yesterday, and after a conference with Generals Travino and Mier, left for Monclova, where he will continue the campaign against the Carranzistas. Monclova, Mushuis and Cuidad Porfirio Diaz are still in the hands of the rebels.

CANADIAN RIVAL FOR FRIEDMANN

Announcement Is Made at Meeting in Ottawa That Unnamed Scientist Has Discovered Tuberculosis Serum.

OTTAWA, March 13.—Dr. F. F. Friedmann already has a rival. The German physician, who claims to have found a serum which cures tuberculosis, and who demonstrated his method in Ottawa yesterday, has had his pretensions overshadowed by those of another, though anonymous investigator, to quote the statements of Dr. A. J. Richer of Montreal, who is attached to the sanitarium at Ste. Agathe, Quebec, in an address delivered at a public meeting held in the Young Men's Christian Association by the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis last night.

Dr. Richer said that in justice to a medical man of twenty-six years' experience and undoubted repute; a man who years ago embarked on this particular phase of tuberculosis work and who had discovered a serum which had shown results on animals much more favorable than those of Dr. Friedmann's alleged cure, and preliminary effects on the treatment of the disease in human beings which were most encouraging, he could not refrain from making these results public, though he was not in a position to disclose the name of the man who had made them possible.

Furthermore, he maintained, Dr. Friedmann's treatment was no new thing; papers embracing all its claims had been delivered last year at an international medical congress and had not aroused any furore among the medical men in attendance.

Tried on Guinea Pigs

In proof of his statements as to the superiority of the serum originated by his anonymous friend, Dr. Richer produced two guinea pigs which had been treated; one, formerly tubercular, which had been cured as the result of an injection, and another into which an injection of 400 times the ordinary strength had been made to demonstrate the harmlessness of the treatment. Interviewed later, he said the man of whom he spoke was not a Canadian.

"In August of last year, the man I speak of," Dr. Richer said, "handed me some vaccine from live bacilli that he had been working on and wished to have experiments conducted on animals.

"They were not started until late in the Fall, and only recently have I been ready to do anything with them. So far as the experiments go, all that can be shown at the present time are animal experiments on this side. Work has been done on human beings with very encouraging results, and these will likely be published in the course of time."

The speaker then took the lid off a wooden case which he had brought with him and disclosed two guinea pigs, which he handed around to the audience.

"The animals," he stated, "were ones on which he experimented with the new serum. One of them had been apparently cured—that is, its symptoms had disappeared—in 48 hours.

"This is better than the results attained at Berlin by the use of the Friedmann serum, and which were criticised," said Dr. Richer, "where the vaccine merely prolonged the life of the animals for a short time."

Will Be Further Tested

The announcement made by Dr. Richer that he was in touch with a scientist who lays claim to the discovery of a serum much more effective than that of Dr. Friedmann, has caused much comment. Much of thework of determining the efficiency of this new serum will be done at the biological laboratory of the Experimental farm, with the co-operation of Dr. C. H. Higgins, the Government biologist.

Dr. Richer stated that he would remain in Ottawa for a week or so, and would initiate experiments at the biological laboratory with the new serum, a quantity of which has been placed in his hands by his anonymous friend. There is every facility at the laboratory for such work.

Dr. Friedmann Goes to Toronto

With him went Dr. Hodgetts, who is a member of the committee of medical men appointed to secure cases for Dr. Friedmann and keep a watch on the patients.

Asked for a statement as to the wellbeing of the Ottawa patients treated by Dr. Friedmann, Dr. Hodgetts said that nothing of value could be observed for ten days yet.

From Toronto Dr. Friedmann will go back to New York, and will not again return to this city.

Dr. Friedmann's Montreal Patients

MONTREAL, March 13.—The results of the treatment administered by Dr. Friedmann to fifty-six patients in Montreal on Tuesday last are being watched with keen interest by the medical profession and the public, and with mingled hope and fear by the subjects of the tests.

However, Dr. Friedmann himself stated that no definite effects were to be expected for ten days or two weeks, except possibly a rise in temperature in some of the pulmonary cases, and so far, his statement has been borne out by the observations of the nurses of the Royal Edward Institute. Of the patients treated, three came from the Institute Bruchesi and two from the Hotel Dieu, the remaining fifty-one being all dispensary cases of the Royal Edward Institute [illegible]

[illegible] Friedmann's demonstration, the institution's nurses visited the homes of about twenty-five of the patients, five of whom were not at home, having gone about their usual business; so it is to be taken for granted that the injections of the Friedmann serum had caused them no immediate ill-effects. The patients found at home for the most part stated that the treatment had caused them no inconvenience. A few reported stiffness in the leg, presumably from the muscular injection made in the hip, but those who had been given the intravenous injection in the arm said that no soreness or stiffness had manifested itself.

possession a doctor's certificate to the effect that Mr. Coderre was quite unable to appear in the House. While he thought it well that the Secretary of State should be present to defend himself when the matter came up, he promised Mr. Gauthier that even if Mr. Coderre was not in the House the matter would not be delayed any longer than Monday. To this Mr. Gauthier agreed.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier also gave his assurance to the House that Mr. Coderre was too ill to appear. The Secretary of State, like the member for St. Hyacinthe, had suffered from false statements in the press, because it had been alleged that he was not ill but in hiding. This statement was not true.

Mr. Maclean's Proposal

When four o'clock came, Mr. W. F. Maclean, of South York, got the floor with the purpose of making the plea that the death of Mr. Haggart afforded a suitable opportunity for the two sides of the House to get together and arrive at some agreement as to the question of naval defence. He suggested that an agreement be reached to vote $25,000,000, for the construction of two Dreadnoughts to be added to the Imperial navy, and that another $10,000,000 be voted to aid in the creation of a fleet unit on the Pacific under the control of Canada, Australia and New Zealand. In this way, both the ideas now being urged before the House would be carried out. A vote for a fleet unit could be based upon the Naval Act passed by the late Government. Mr. Maclean said he believed in complete autonomy for the Dominion, but he considered that complete autonomy will not interfere with the solidarity of the Empire in the matter of Imperial defence. He did not believe that the proposed contribution was objectionable to the Dominion. Therefore he was quite ready to vote the money. In some way, however, the House ought to be big enough to get together on the matter of Imperial defence and let the world see that the Parliament of Canada can be of one voice on this great question and yet fully preserve the autonomy of the Dominion.

Tribute of Respect

Premier Borden then moved that out of respect to the memory of Mr. Haggart, the House should rise until 8 o'clock. Hon. W. T. White took advantage of the opportunity to table some supplementary estimates for the current year. The Speaker then left the chair and the members quietly dispersed.

Mr. J. W. Robb, Huntingdon, Que., continued the debate when the House resumed at 8 o'clock. He broke new ground by taking up the question of representation of the Protestant minority of Quebec in the Cabinet. He said that the present minority had never been without a Minister holding a portfolio from the time when Hon. A. T. Galt was Minister of Finance. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier formed his first Cabinet it included two Quebec Protestants with portfolios and one without. He could not help considering what the Prime Minister of today really thought of the position of the Protestant minority in Quebec. Mr. Robb said that he would have brought up the question, but that he had noticed that certain papers in Ontario had started a campaign against what they described as French domination. He would ask The Orange Sentinel what it thought of the present situation. The Nationalist predominance in the Cabinet, said Mr. Robb, was responsible for the naval policy now before the House.

Mr. F. B. Carvell again rose and called attention to the face that all correspondence between the Government and the Admiralty had been tabled with the exception of the cablegrams which passed between Mr. Borden and Mr. Churchill last week. He thought it would be advisable to have these cables brought down, in order to complete the correspondence, and asked Mr. Borden if he would do this.

Premier's Explanation

Premier Borden, in reply, said that there were two matters which had been alluded to in the House and in the press. It had been stated that the Government policy had been formulated previous to the resignation of Hon. F. D. Monk, on October 18, but that the letter accompanying the Admiralty memorandum was delivered on October 20. The inference was that the Government's policy had been decided on before the memorandum was received. The fact was that the first information came to the Cabinet in more complete but confidential form. This information was received early in October, and was in the hands of the Ministers during the consideration of the question of policy.

As to the occurrences of last week, Mr. Borden said that his last message to Mr. Churchill was sent early that week, and the reply authorising the production of the documents came on Sunday. He gave orders to have the matter prepared for presentation to the House on Monday.

When Sir Wilfrid asked for the additional correspondence on Monday it was not ready, but later on, when he came into the House with it, Mr. F. B. Carvell was speaking, and he did not care to interrupt.

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 13.—Students of the Glasgow University and three hundred stewards, including fifty dock laborers, came to grips at a suffragette meeting in St. Andrew's Hall tonight. The students fared badly. Many of them were beaten; scores were ejected, and the others sat throughout the remainder of the meeting in silence.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, it was announced early in the day, would address the suffragettes. A large body of students from the University came to St. Andrew's Hall for the purpose of breaking up the meeting. They got more than they bargained for.

When Miss Jane Allen was introducing Mrs. Pankhurst the students, who were in force at the back of the hall, started an uproar. Immediately the detachment from the stewards and dock laborers swooped down upon them. A free fight followed, and those who occupied chairs stood on them to watch the scrimmage.

Students Roughly Handled.

The organist started playing, trying to drown the uproar, but without success. After a fierce engagement, which lasted ten minutes, the stewards dragged or carried not less than fifty students into the streets. Those that were left behind, finding themselves outnumbered, did not renew the fighting, but were discreetly well-behaved.

One student, who head was severely cut, received surgical attention, while many others bore traces of the fray in the shape of black eyes, bruised faces and torn clothing. The promoters of the meeting anticipated hostilities, and invoked the aid of the dockers to reinforce their regular male attendants. The dock men, on their part, seemed only too willing to have a chance at the students, and by their energetic proceedings procured for Mrs. Pankhurst a quiet hearing of thirty minutes. Her speech to a large extent was a repetition of those recently made.

She said she had given a pledge not to incite violence while out on bail, but this did not prevent her from talking about incitement. In her opinion the members of the government were the first persons who ought to be tried for incitement to violence. The King's speech was a direct incitement to violence upon the part of the women. She agreed with Lord Hugh Cecil that militancy was the most effective thing to bring public questions to the front, and, moreover, it was the cheapest thing.

A large and hostile crowd gathered outside the hall and Mrs. Pankhurst was obliged to make her escape by a side door.

Attacks on Mail Boxes.

LONDON, March 13.—The militant suffragettes made no attempt to spoil sport today by interference with the Oxford-Cambridge boat race. They continue, however, to display a most determined spirit of persistence in holding public meetings and the clashes of divergent opponents threaten to become a grave public scandal. At Glasgow tonight the women entered fully into the spirit of retaliation which has become more and more apparent on the part of those who opposed the suffragettes in the past few weeks.

"General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, addressed a meeting of 500 women in Essex Hall, London, tonight. Admission was by ticket, and strangers were excluded.

Referring to the arrest today of Olive Hocken on the charge of attempted incendiarism, Mrs. Drummond said: "If the government think they are able to suppress militancy by such acts, we say: 'Oh ye fools'."

She urged on her hearers a continuous change of tactics, adding: "We must do what we can and not get found out. The more the government tries to injure us the more they will help our cause."

Numerous pillar box outrages were committed today.

PROMPT ATTENTION TO OUT-OF-TOWN ORDERS

START TO BE MADE ON CIVIC ESTIMATES

Administrative Expenditures for the Year Will Occupy Time of City Council in Secret Session Tonight.

Preliminary consideration of the civic estimates for the year will be taken this evening by the city council. The completion of this work will require several sessions but a start will be made tonight and considerable progress should be made in approving on the non-contentious items. The salaries for the various civic departments will be fixed and while there are a number of applications for increases before the board it is doubtful if any will be granted the financial stringency being the excuse which will be made for not augmenting existing salaries.

Of the various civic departments which have put in estimates of expenditure the fire department is the only one which has received the approval of the council. The chief's request for alarm apparatus, wire and other accessories, payment for all of which will come out of general revenue, having been approved some weeks ago and the materials are now in order.

Asked to Curtail.

The chief has been requested to curtail his demands but in a communication which he will submit at tonight's meeting he will urge the importance of at once augmenting the signal alarm system in various parts of the city, notably in the Foul Bay and Oaklands sections where the alarm boxes at present are wholly inadequate. In Oaklands there is but one box where there should be at least five, the growth of the section demanding more fire alarm facilities. In other sections the same condition of affairs exists and as the present circuits are loaded to their capacity it wil be necessary to increase the number of boxes to add to the circuits or, as the chief suggests, instal a more modern system of switch board arrangements at headquarters. The item for alarm boxes and headquarter's signal equipment was placed in last year's estimates but at the request of the then council was left over until this year.

For Secret Session.

The desire of the council to have tonight's session in secret for the consideration of the estimates is due to the belief that freer discussion can be had than if officials and public were present. Prior to this meeting a short session of the council will be held when, among other matters, will be considered Alderman Cuthbert's resolution relative to the erection of a bascule bridge over the Inner Harbor to connect Laurel Point with the proposed railway terminals on the former Indian reserve.

INSPECTS PUBLIC WORKS

Hon. Thomas Taylor Makes Official Trip—New Westminster's New Land Registry Office

Hon. Thomas Taylor, Provincial Minister of Public Works, intends spending several days more on the lower Mainland, inspecting various public works. He was yesterday waited upon by Reeve Churchill, of Point Grey municipality, with a request that the Provincial Government contribute in cash toward paving either Fourth or Ninth Avenues from the Vancouver city limits to the University grounds, thus affording a direct modern thoroughfare from the chief provincial population centre to the seat of higher education in British Columbia. Consideration of the request was promised by the Minister.

During his visit to New Westminster on Wednesday afternoon, Hon. Mr. Taylor made the announcement that a contract will shortly be awarded for additions to the Land Registry Office at the Royal City, involving an estimated expenditure of $25,000.

The present accommodation is said to be sadly inadequate.

The Minister also made an official inspection of the new chronic ward at the Essendale Mental Hospital, which is shortly to be taken over by the Government.

REGISTRATION FORMS ARE PLENTIFUL

King's Printer Disposes of Assertion Made by Vancouver Liberals—All Applications Are Fully Met

A certain section of the Liberal party at Vancouver and the newspapers by which it is represented have recently been trying to make political capital out of a charge that the King's Printer, Mr. W. H. Cullin, had refused to furnish their organization with requested supplies of blank application forms for the registration of voters. The secretary of the Provincial Liberal organization even went so far as to state that the King's Printer had replied to his request that there were no forms on hand and Liberals could not have any.

This statement is emphatically denied by Mr. Cullin, who states that immediately at the close of the session, he proceeded to distribute application blanks and informed the Liberal secretary that these would go first to registrars throughout the Province, from whom any persons desirous of obtaining them might obtain supplies; and that afterwards private applications would be dealt with as rapidly as possible.

The application of the secretary of the Liberal organization, it may be mentioned, was for twenty-five thousand blanks, and prior to its receipt, a similar application had come to hand from the Vancouver Conservative Association, which asked for two thousand forms, this request also being denied, with the same explanation that was given the representatives of the party in opposition.

Since then, a fuller supply being available, all applications have been fully met and in ample time for the [illegible]

RELIC FOR THE ARCHIVES

Receipt of "Ballou's Express," Signed by Hon. Hugh Nelson, is Unearthed

An item appearing in the provincial press a few days ago in reference to an ancient receipt of Ballou's Express, issued in Yale, with the signature of the late Hon. Hugh Nelson, as agent, attracted the attention of Attorney-General Bowser during his midweek visit to Vancouver. The receipt had been sent to Secretary Blair, of the Vancouver Board of Trade, to be placed in the archives of that body by Mr. William Teague. Hon. Mr. Bowser has made application, however, to have it transferred to the Provincial Government, for inclusion among the treasures of the Archives Department here. While there are many signatures of the late Lieutenant-Governor attached to official documents, the Archives Branch has as yet none covering the time when Mr. Nelson was agent of that famous old express company, when the history of British Columbia was in the protoplasmic stage.

Mr. E. O. S. Scholfield, the Provincial Archivist and Librarian, intends visiting the Mainland shortly, and has consented to give a lecture at Vancouver under the auspices of the Progress Club on the evening of the 26th instant, his theme being "The Value of Libraries."

in Seattle—beautiful city—but when I come to Victoria I must my hat take off. I need not talk to you of its beauties; but of its development I can speak advisedly for I see it from a distance and I am not trammelled by association. It is amazing the manner in which this city is growing. It gives railway men pause. We must stop and think. We must consider what it means to us as well as to you. We represent an enterprising company and it behooves us to come and look at what you have here and see what we can do with it.

Not Locating Terminal

"No, we are not here locating a terminal, but just what our visit may develop it is impossible to say. This part of the country is drawing nearer and nearer to the centre of things—or it is the reverse process that is operating—the centre of things coming nearer and nearer here—and the transcontinental lines plying south of the line as well north of the line must take that fact into consideration. I am informed that the northern lines have already done so and that great developments are now under way. That is a splendid start, but that need not keep others away. Yes, we realize that the day must come when we shall connect with British Columbia with the veritable bonds of steel, the bonds of transportation, than which, I venture to say there are few that bind more closely. Already we are in the field in one sense. We have established an office here to cater to the traffice of Victoria and the Island, and it is a matter of tremendous satisfaction to me to say that Mr. Solly, the local manager, has succeeded in demonstrating to the people of Victoria that the line we are running is worthy of their consideration. Our local agency has succeeded far beyond our highest expectations, and is, I may say, the inspiration of this present visit of inspection. We want to see what more we can do, and when I say that I look for big things in that regard I am not romancing. The people here don't fully realize what a wonderful country it is they are living in and how filled it is with opportunity for development along the lines we represent.

"Take for example the suggestion to bridge the Narrows and connect the Island with the Mainland. That is a stupendous proposition, but it is as nothing to the results it will provoke in the shape of industrial activity, not only here in Victoria, although I should think that Victoria will always be the centre of things on the Island, but throughout the whole of this little empire. I took a trip recently round by the Barkley Sound and the Alberni Canal and I was astounded at the opportunities that present themselves there. Yes, this is a great country, and it has a great people."

Can't Find Landmarks

Mr. Hiland, the vice-president of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Road, was paying his first visit to Victoria in eleven years. "Since I arrived here," he said, "I have been looking for some old familiar landmarks to assure me my location, but I cannot find any. They are all obliterated, and no wonder. This is a city now that defies landmarks. I feel sure that if I remained away eleven weeks I would be surprised at the change on my return let alone another eleven years. But having seen what I have seen it is certain I shall be back again soon. Our people are greatly interested in your country, and while it is impossible to say what we may do either one way or the other, I must say that we are all immensely impressed with the development opportunities which it offers.

"When this city is linked up with the Mainland it will be one of the greatest ports on the Pacific seaboard, and I understand that ample preparations are now under way for the assumption of that new condition of things. I have heard of your breakwater and harbor plans and I must commend the public spirit which is promoting them. Then again there is talk of bridging the Seymour Narrows to connect the Island with the Mainland. Once that is an accomplished fact Victoria must take a leading place in the commerce, not only of the Pacific Coast, but of the world, for then she will be right in line of the great trade routes that traverse the globe.

"If there is one thing more than another that I would like to say in connection with our visit here, it is, we as a railway corporation, have never been better treated anywhere than we have in British Columbia. [illegible]

IMPERIAL UNITY.

(Second Article)

Most people when they write and talk of Imperial Unity seem to forget India. Yet a country of nearly three hundred millions of people is far from being a negligible quantity. There could be a British Empire without India, but it would be a very different thing from what it is now. A recent British writer advanced an idea that is worthy of consideration even though we may not wholly subscribe to it. He distinguished between the Empire and the Nation, stating the case somewhat in this way: There are in the United Kingdom some 45,000,000 people; in Canada there are 8,000,000; in Australia 5,000,000; in South Africa 2,000,000; in other parts of the Empire 2,000,000, or altogether somewhat above 60,000,000 people who may be called British. These form the nation and are the governing element. In India, South Africa and elsewhere within British Dominions there are many millions of native races. These constitute the Empire and are governed by the Nation. We do not suggest that this is the correct view of the case, but there is a great deal in it in point of fact, however, accurate it may be in point of law. The writer referred to urged the consolidation of the Nation, presenting in that regard much the same arguments as we presented yesterday, when arguing for the development on the broadest possible lines of the sentiment of British Nationality.

But there is always India to be considered, and here, lest we may not be confused by terms, the status of India may be elaborated a little. The King is Emperor of India, but that is merely a title. He is Emperor of India because he is King of the United Kingdom. He governs India, not of his own right or of his own motion, but constitutionally through the Parliament of the United Kingdom. He does not derive any of his authority from the people of India. The Parliament of the United Kingdom can at any time it sees fit alter the whole governmental system of India. It can do this because it is physically able to enforce its decrees, and its power in India extends no further than it can be sustained by physical force, if occasion should arise. Hence the King and Parliament stand towards India as an Emperor stands towards his empire. This, needless to say, is not the position in which the King and the Parliament of the United Kingdom stand towards Canada. Therefore there is no imperial relation between the United Kingdom and the Dominion. It is true that the Canadian Parliament is the creature of the Parliament of the United Kingdom, and that, theoretically, what the latter has created it can annul; but practically we know that this power does not exist.

It is India that makes the British Empire an Asiatic power. It is India that makes the Empire the greatest Mohammedan power. It is India that makes the Empire coterminous with Russia and China. It is India that makes the occupation of Egypt essential to the safety of the Empire. It is India that furnishes an inexhaustless supply of fighting material. It is India that affords a vast market for British products, a market which can be closed to all the rest of the world, whenever the Parliament of the United Kingdom may so decree. It is in India that there are to be found millions of people, for whose increase before long some place must be found. Therefore when we talk glibly of and forget India, we are avoiding one of the most important factors in the case.

At present neither Canada, Australia nor any other of the self-governing dominions has any voice in the government of India. A question naturally arises, supposing we are able to arrive at some solution of the governmental functions of the United Kingdom and these Dominions, whereby something [illegible] of a central control rep-that the membership of such a council should be representative of the people; but as matters now stand to talk of representation of the people of India in such a Council, as we understand the word "representation" is wholly out of the question.

We state these problems, not because we think they cannot be solved, for we believe that time will show how the solution can be found, but in order that they may not be lost sight of in the discussion of Imperial Unity. There are some people who think the problem of Unity can be solved by making a few changes in the fiscal system of the United Kingdom; others believe that if Colonial representation on the Council of Defence can be secured the rest will be easy. These things may be steps in the right direction, but that is the most that can be claimed for them. The United Kingdom may adopt protection, Canada, Australia and South Africa may be represented upon an Imperial Council of Defence, but there will remain India.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL INCREASES

Great Britain's naval expenditure for the fiscal year 1913-'14 will total $231,546,500, as compared with $225,377,000 for the year which ends on March 31. The increase of some six million dollars is hardly as great as was expected. An extra battleship is to be contracted for, but fewer torpedo boat destroyers than last year. The increase in the personnel was forecasted some time ago by Mr. Winston Churchill. It is certain that there will be no difficulty attracting more men to the service owing to the raise in the scale of pay which was announced some time ago. Speaking of wages it is interesting to note that in this respect her navy costs Great Britain but little more than the United States, as the following table of navy-pay for 1911-1912 will show:

	Numbers.	Wages.
Great Britain	134,100	$37,557,500
United States	60,500	$36,031,055

The navy-pay of Germany is very low as compared with that of other nations, as can be gathered from the fact that in 1910 a personnel of 57,355 officers and men only cost her $9,550,050, which works out at less than one-third of that paid in the United States.

Great Britain's programme of construction for the coming year, as compared with that undertaken in 1912, is shown in the following figures:

	1912.	1913.
Battleships	4	5
Light Arm'd Cruisers	8	8
Torpedo-Boat Destroy's	20	16
Submarines	6	?
Personnel	137,500	146,000

A DISGRACE TO VICTORIA

What is one of the most frequented and prettiest drives within the city is at present in a state of very bad repair. We allude to the continuation of Dallas Road through Beacon Hill Park, between Douglas and Cook Streets. The surface is all cut up, strewn with loose stones, while patches of the roadway are broken by deep ruts of a dangerous character. During the Summer time this drive, owing to the magnificent view across the Straits, easily takes rank among the most popular in the city or vicinity. In past years when the tourist season was in full swing it has been the scene of continuous streams of motor cars and horse-drawn vehicles. It is safe to say that if the driveway is left in its present condition it will be little frequented during the coming Summer.

The city possesses a remarkable asset in Beacon Hill Park, but if the roadways are neglected, to the extent of the one to which we are alluding, it cannot be wondered at if residents and tourists cease to use this open air space as a recreation ground for motoring. This is a matter to which the City Council should give attention at once. If permanent repairs cannot be carried out at present some system of resurfacing should be undertaken so as to make the drive available for traffic immediately. Beacon Hill Park is altogether too much neglected.

THE LATE MR. HAGGART

The death of Mr. John G. Haggart removes a man who has played an interesting and significant part in the development of the Dominion. For forty-one years he had been a member of the Dominion House, successfully contesting the seat of South Lanark ever since he was first elected in 1872. We do not think there is a member of the House of Commons who has a record of the same kind. Between the years of 1888 and 1896, when the Conservatives went out of power, Mr. Haggart was successively Postmaster-General in the Macdonald and Abbott administrations and Minister of Railways and Canals in the Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper administrations.

MISCHIEVOUS FALSIFICATION

The British Cabinet is responsible for the Imperial foreign policy. It is the exigencies of international relations which determine the course of the Empire's naval affairs. Thus, when Mr. Winston Churchill was asked for particulars relating to such matters it was natural that his reply should be governed by existing conditions, and that what he stated was based on strategical grounds. He has laid Canada under a debt of gratitude for the candid information contained in his memoranda. If we were not prepared to accept advice and to profit by the successes, as well as the failures of other nations, ours would be a sorry outlook indeed. When the advisor is a responsible statesman of Great Britain and the head of that navy, without whose aid in the past it is probable there would have been no Canada today, to describe him as meddling with our domestic affairs is nothing but mischievous falsification.

GREATER VICTORIA.

The sixteenth edition of Henderson's Directory gives an estimate of the population of Greater Victoria, which includes the city proper, the township of Esquimalt, the municipality of Oak Bay and the southern part of the municipality of South Saanich. The estimated population at the present time, that is in March, 1913, is 67,875. This number is arrived at by using 2.75 as a multiple for the individual names, which we do not think at all high. There are in the directory 24,682 individual names as residents of Greater Victoria as above described. This multiplied by 2.71 gives 67,875. There were 20,349 individual names last year, which gave a population of 55,959, an increase of nearly 12,000 or about 21 per cent. If this rate of increase continues we will have a population of 97,000 by 1915, and if it is at all accelerated we may pass the 100,000 mark by that date.

WAGES AND PRICES

Some very interesting statistics have recently been published by the Labor Department of the British Board of Trade. They deal with the value of the sovereign in terms of the necessities of life. Twenty shillings have of themselves no actual value. What they have is a statutory value. You may go to the Bank of England and compel the authorities to give you five sovereigns for a five-pound note, but, if you were on the point of starvation, you could not go to a baker's and compel him to give you a loaf of bread for one of the sovereigns or for the whole of them. A sovereign must contain a certain amount of gold and a shilling a certain amount of silver, but there is no fixed standard whereby a sovereign can be expressed in terms of labor or commodities. A demand is being made for the definition of the sovereign in terms of labor, and this is what is called the minimum wage; but no one has yet proposed to define its value in terms of bread or beef. Thus we see how it can fairly be said that the value of a sovereign fluctuates in terms of those things without which the sovereign would have no value at all, namely labor and the necessities of life.

The statistics begin with 1895 and are brought down to 1912. For purposes of comparison the purchasing power of a sovereign in the first named year is taken as a basis, and this coin is supposed then to have been equal to twenty shillings worth of the necessities of life. Last year the purchasing power of the sovereign was only equal to 16s. 3d., as compared with its purchasing power in 1895. The decrease has been nearly steady. There was a slight appreciation in the purchasing power of this coin in 1904, but the next year it dropped back again to what it was in 1903; it rose again in 1906 to what it was in 1904, but dropped again the next year to a figure lower than what it had stood at in any previous year. The decline continued for two years, when there was a slight upward tendency; then it made a marked fall; then a slight rise; but in 1912 it reached the lowest level ever attained.

Another table gives a comparison of prices of sundry staple articles between the years 1905 and 1912. In only two articles is there a decrease, in second-class and inferior mutton and petroleum. The greatest increase is in tapioca, in which it was 66 per cent. The only article in which there was no change was bread, although flour shows an increase of 4 per cent. Beef shows an increase of from 20 per cent in the case of first-class to 33 [illegible]

the advance in prices is due to Free Trade, but this does not seem to be based on sound reasoning, and moreover the same condition prevails in Protectionist countries. May not the explanation lie in the fact that the cost of labor fixes the cost of production, and that if labor costs more, its products must of necessity cost more? Higher wages and shorter hours of work must increase the cost of production and lessen the output of products in proportion to the labor expended upon them. What we mean by this is that if a man only works eight hours a day, he may be assumed to produce less than if he worked nine hours. Hence the product of his day's work must be sold for more. The cost of living must of necessity increase with the cost of production. Hence, high wages are not a panacea for relative poverty. It is not the number of dollars a man gets in a week, but what he can buy with them that measures his degree of comfort. We have by no means solved the question of good living when we increase wages. There is something else to be done, but we frankly confess we do not know what it is.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

There is a great dearth of good public speakers in Victoria, and in fact all over British Columbia. You can almost count on your ten fingers those persons, who can take up a subject, marshall the facts and arguments, enliven them with wit or humor and present them with force and fluency. This is not true of the other Provinces to nearly as great an extent as it is of ours. We do not think it would be very difficult to discover an explanation of the unenviable distinction of British Columbia in this respect, but we may say freely that there is very little encouragement given to young men, who might feel disposed to cultivate the graces of oratory. This is exactly as it ought not to be.

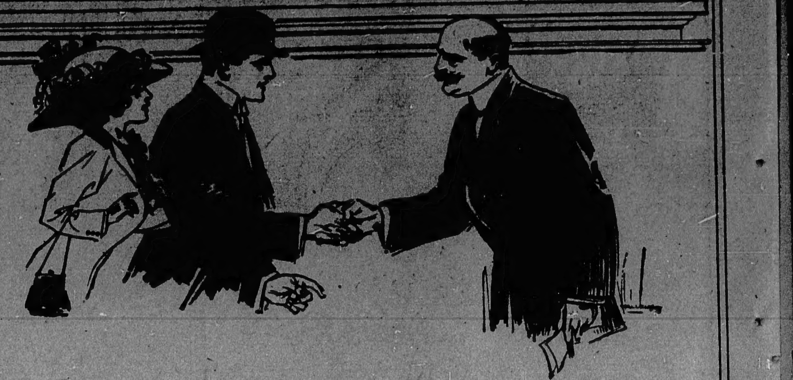

It would be an excellent thing for the development of a sound public opinion if the generation now entering into public life or on its threshold would cultivate diligently the art of public speaking. It would lead to the elimination of much of the rubbish that now is made to do duty for political discussion. It would compel a study of political principles and political history. It would develop independence of thought, a proper appreciation of the principles of government and an honesty of purpose that would do much to elevate the whole standard of public life.

It is often said that the press has supplanted the public speaker. Possibly this is true to some extent, but not to nearly the same extent as many suppose. The fact that the newspaper is abroad in the land may seem to make the work of the public speaker more difficult, because he is likely to be addressing audiences that know nearly as much as he does of the things he discusses. But the best newspaper must of necessity lack the force of personal magnetism. It may influence, but it cannot sway. Moreover the very fact that a newspaper keeps the people well informed, while it renders the task of the public speaker more difficult in one respect, facilitates it in another. People like to hear what they already know or have thought stated to them with the personality of a man behind it. Most newspaper readers have in their minds a mass of facts not thoroughly co-related, and a mass of opinions not fully formed. Such minds present a fruitful field for the public speaker.

We plead with young men just entering active life, no matter in what line of activity, to younger men, who have not yet completed their studies, to study the graces of oratory or at least to make a determined effort to master the art of lucid public speaking. We plead with those, who are charged with the instruction of boys to see that they are taught how to express themselves in public. There are far greater social and political problems to be dealt with in the future than any that have been disposed of in the past. There will in consequence be a greater field for the activity of public speakers than there ever has been.

In Toronto and New York the use of cut-outs on motor-cars is prohibited. Sirens are not allowed in these cities except in the case of the fire departments. Will Victoria follow these examples and put an end to objectionable practices?

Many Other Lines to Choose From, and Lounges Made to Your Special Orders

Buffets and China Cabinets

In a Variety of Designs, Woods and Finishes

We have a tremendous assortment of dining-room furniture, and mention a few lines here as samples of what we call good values. There's a big difference between the terms, price and value. Price is simply the amount you pay for the furniture, and may be a good or bad bargain, but "value" means that you get the benefit of real worth and utility out of your investment.

Here are some lines that will give you entire satisfaction from the viewpoint of appearance and service:

In Fumed Oak we have a splendid buffet. It is made on simple but pleasing lines, and contains one large drawer, two small drawers, one lined for silver, and a large cupboard and two handsome doors. The back has a beveled mirror 8 x 36 inches, and the top measures 20 x 42 inches. Price $35.00

A China Cabinet that will go nicely with the above buffet has a top 16 x 43 inches, and has glass doors and ends. Price $30.00

In Satin Walnut there is a very neatly designed buffet with three long drawers and a cupboard on either side with glass doors. The beveled mirror is 10 x 45 inches and the top measures 22 x 54 inches. Price $32.50

A China Cabinet to match the above buffet has a top measuring 16 x 31 inches. Price . . $20.00

Golden Oak Buffet has one long drawer and two small drawers, one lined for storing silver, and a large cupboard. The top is 20 x 44 inches and the British beveled mirror 12 x 40 . . . . $40.00

A Dinner Wagon to match has one long drawer and a shelf. Size over top 18 x 38. Price . . $12.00

A Golden Oak China Cabinet made to match the above-mentioned buffet. Size over the top 14 x 27 inches. Price $20.00

A Variety of Other China Cabinets in golden, fumed or Early English finished oak, are to be had at $20.00

Handsome Dining Tables with round tops and pedestal supports. Up from $28.00

SAANICH COUNCIL ELECTS ENGINEER

Mr. C. H. Topp Successful Candidate Out of Nineteen—Water Supply Subject of Strong Appeal by Councillor.

The Saanich Municipal Council yesterday elected Mr. C. H. Topp as engineer for the municipality out of nineteen candidates for the position. Mr. Topp in his letter of application requested a salary of $2,500 a year, this to include the use of his own motor car and instruments and the services of one instrument man for field work.

As particulars of each application were read by the clerk, comment was made by the councillors on the number of highly qualified men who were willing to place their services at the disposal of the municipality at salaries ranging from $1,800 to $3,000 a year. Councillor Williams registered a protest against considering the appointment of anyone as a consulting and not a permanent engineer as decided on previously by the Council. The Reeve, however, overruled the protest and, on a ballot being taken Mr. Topp received four votes to three cast for Mr. C. H. Payne, assistant engineer to the city of Victoria. Councillor Williams again protested aganst the appointment of anyone who was not prepared to give his whole time to the municipality, and then Councillor Borden asked as to the status of petitions that had already been sent in from different parts of the district for water under local improvement.

Clerk Gets Instructions.

The Reeve in answer stated that all such petitions must be in compliance with the new amendment of the Act and on Councillor Borden's motion instructions were given to the clerk to notify all previous petitioners of this.

Councillor Borden then brought up the whole question of water supply, and stated that he considered it thoroughly unsatisfactory that this should be done piecemeal under local improvement.

It would entail endless clashing, endless expense in years to come and, he believed, would prove unworkable. Councillor Williams supported the last speaker and thought that a complete scheme should be put up by the municipality. The Reeve pointed out that there were only the two alternatives, to undertake the water supply of the whole district and obtain the consent of the majority of the ratepayers to a by-law authorizing the raising of funds, which must be preceded by a petition signed by two-thirds of the ratepayers, or to procede under local improvement petitions.

Danger Is Emphasized.

The general feeling of the council was that funds could not be raised to take the first course and though Councillor Borden again emphasized the danger to the municipality of all the new subdivisions without water or sewerage facilities, for the wells, he reminded the Council, would soon be condemned as houses grew thicker, the matter was dropped.

The Reeve was authorized to arrange for office quarters for the engineer and then the council authorized the action of Councillor Williams in representing the council at an appeal before the executive regarding a subdivision on the Felton Road, where the width of roads is again the subject in dispute.

BRADSTREET'S OPENS OFFICE IN VICTORIA

Testimony That This City Is Moving Among Forward Ranks Is Given by New Move.

Eloquent testimony that Victoria has assumed a foremost position in the commercial world and is compelling everybody to "sit up and take notice," is contained in the announcement that Bradstreets, the famous mercantile agency, with connections all over the world, has at last decided to open a main office in this city.

This news follows upon the heels of the visit to Victoria this week of Mr. C. J. Wellman, travelling representative, with headquarters at Portland, who while here secured quarters in the Winch Block on Fort Street. The office will be formally opened on April 1, and be in charge of the resident agent, Mr. W. J. Vanderburgh, who has been located here for some time.

The announcement of this intention on the part of Bradstreets is of more significance than would appear on the surface. Main offices, that is, offices which are at points where the business covering a large amount of territory is centralized, are only located at the most important places in the country, but in 1900 it was decided to move to Vancouver, and this was done, leaving here only a resident agent. Now, with the growth of Victoria, it is felt that the old order of things should be restored. Nothing could better mark the recognition of the financial world of the marvellous steps which Victoria is making towards commercial greatness.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Accountant Transferred—Mr. Hilton B. Witter, accountant of the Royal Bank of Canada of this city, has been transferred to the East End Branch of the bank in Vancouver, B. C., and has left to take up his new duties.

Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign—So far nineteen new members have been enrolled as the result of the special efforts to increase the numbers of the association. The campaign will be continued and a large increase is expected within the next two months.

Jersey Herd Book—At a meeting of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club, at Toronto, last month, arrangements were completed for the publication of the first volume of the Canadian Jersey Herd Book. Mr. B. A. Bull, of Brampton, was appointed secretary to the club in succession to Mr. R. J. Fleming.

Work on Conduit—Work on the laying of the underground conduits on Johnson Street from Government Street to Store Street is under way and when completed will connect with the Government Street conduits and permit of the placing underground of telephone wires as well as the city overhead wires.

School District Redefined—The school districts of Beaver Creek, Port Coquitlam and Port Moody have during the past week been redefined by the provincial Department of Education, and the respective new boundaries of each are duly set forth in the current issue of The British Columbia Gazette.

Can Practice in B. C.—Three additions have recently been made to the list of British Columbia land surveyors authorized to practice their profession during the current year, these being Messrs. C. H. Ellacot, of Victoria; W. J. Johnston, of Vancouver, and O. M. Stitt, of Kamloops.

Incorporations Formed—The following Farmers' Associations have been incorporated under the Agricultural Associations Act: The Cortes Island Farmers' Institute; The Ashcroft District Potato Growers' Association and the Needles and Whatshan Horticultural Association.

Chase's Need of Hospital—An application has been made to the Provincial Government by the Chase Board of Trade for a sufficient special grant to cover the costs incidental to the establishment of an isolation hospital at that Kamloops town. The people of Chase have already subscribed a considerable sum to provide furniture and outfittings complete in the event of the Government providing the building.

Sea Wall Roadway Underway—Work on the construction of the roadway at the rear of the Ross Bay sea wall is under way City Engineer Rust having placed a large gang of men at work. The work will provide employment for a considerable number of former civic employees who were laid off at the beginning of the year. The estimated cost of the work, including paving and electric lighting, will be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Inter-Municipal Committee—The first meeting of the recently appointed intermunicipal committee representative of the city and adjoining municipalities and constituted for the purpose of dealing with all matters of intermunicipal interest will be held this afternoon, when a permanent chairman will be selected and consideration of the various matters referred by the various municipal councils to it for discussion will be had.

Sanitarium Statistics—According to the latest official report received from the King Edward Sanitarium at Tranquille, twelve patients were received at that institution last month, eight of these being in a far advanced stage of tuberculosis. There were, during the month, seven apparent cures, one improvement and three deaths. At the close of the month ninety patients were in residence, including seventeen gratuitiously maintained.

Steveston's Courthouse—The Richmon Municipal Council has decided to begin erection in the very near future of a substantial courthouse building at Steveston, which will contain, in addition to the court room and judges' and barristers' chambers, accommodations for jail and police officers. It is expected that a application will be made to the Public Works Department for Provincial assistance toward the completion of the new municipal structure.

Inspecting Road Conditions—Mr. G. P. Napier, assistant engineer of the Public Works Department, is at present paying an official visit to the lower Mainland. On Wednesday, in company with Road Superintendent John Sprott, the pioneer of the service, Mr. Napier motored out to Cloverdale and made a general inspection of road conditions in Surrey municipality. Yesterday he visited North Nicomen, accompanied by Road Superintendent Bonson, to study the situation there.

Change of Address—The temporary office of the Victoria Mutual Loan and Building Society has been moved to permanent quarters in Suite 317, Central Building. The second drawing for an appropriation in this company will be held in the Moose Hall, 1613 Douglast Street, on Monday, March 24. The first series of 500 members is being rapidly filled up by intending home builders, who appreciate the opportunities of bettering themselves by the operation of these mutual concerns.

Tenders for Coal Supply—Tenders are being invited by the Minister of Public Works, up to noon of March 29, for the supply of coal at the Government Buildings here for the fiscal year ending on March 31, 1914. The approximate annual consumption of coal for each of the buildings is as follows: Parliament Buildings, 250 tons; Government House, 110 tons; and Court House, 60 tons. Tenders are to be based on the long ton of 2,240 lbs., and each delivery must be accompanied by an official weighmaster's certificate.

Oak Bay Building—Building permits were issued yesterday in Oak Bay to Mr. [illegible]

[illegible]—Thrown from a wagon the horse attached to which bolted on the Esquimalt Road at noon yesterday near the St. George's Inn, Donald McDonald was run over and badly bruised besides being injured internally. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in the ambulance of the Victoria Transfer Company by Sergeant Harper and Constable Blackstock where his injuries were attended to. He will be confined to the hospital for some days.

Dental Surgeons in B. C.—The revised list of dental surgeons entitled to practice their profession in British Columbia shows a total enrolment of 104 such practitioners, forty-nine being located in Vancouver, twenty in Victoria, eight in New Westminster, four in Nelson, two in each of the cities of Fernie, Nanaimo, Vernon, North Vancouver, Kamloops, Rossland and Kelowna, and one each in Cranbrook, Enderby, Chilliwack, Ladysmith, Greenwood, Revelstoke, Cedar Cottage and Penticton. Curiously enough, Prince Rupert does not appear in the list, although it is known to possess at least three practicing dentists.

Humpback Arbitration—The arbitration proceedings to fix the value of the land which is owned by Messrs. Bernath and Harmon at Humpback and part of which is required by the city for the right of way for the Sooke Lake pipe line at that point was continued yesterday. City Engineer Rust and Mr. Boyd Ehle, the latter the resident engineer for the city on the Sooke Lake work, gave testimony on the value of the property to the city. The owners claim $100 for about 200 acres, but the city desired to secure but about four acres. The award is expected from the arbitrators in a short time.

MacNamara Extradited—The Attorney-General's department has been advised from New York that all efforts to defeat the order of extradition having failed, James J. MacNamara, otherwise known as "Australian Mac," is now en route to New Westminster to face trial in connection with the great Bank of Montreal robbery there, and should arrive on this Coast on Sunday next. His trial will probably be included in the docket for the New Westminster Spring assize. Dean is already in New Westminster, and Powell, the third suspect, at last reports was still engaged in industriously fighting extradition proceedings at Detroit.

Celebrate Silver Wedding—Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jones, of 2127 Chambers Street, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary yesterday and in the evening entertained a large number of friends at dinner in honor of the happy event. Their wedding took place in Vancouver, the officiating minister being Rev. Mr. Thompson, then pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Two years later they moved to Victoria, where they have made their home ever since. They have one son, Mr. Clarence Jones, who is a native of Victoria. His wife was born in Elora, Ont. The former is a well-known contractor, while Mrs. Jones was for some time connected with the Ladies' Guild of the Metropolitan Methodist church.

Provincial Appointments—New honors have come recently to the leader of the Opposition in the provincial House, the current issue of The Provincial Gazette chronicling the appointment of Messrs. Parker Williams, of Ladysmith, and Edwin C. Weddell, of Kelowna, as notaries public. Mr. John Conway, of Stewart, is named as stipendiary magistrate for the County of Atlin, and Government Agent John Kirkup, of Alberni, as a stipendiary magistrate for the County of Nanaimo. Mr. Robert Smith, of Vancouver, is appointed a notary public and a commissioner for taking affidavits within the Province. The resignation by Mr. J. W. Henkel, of Francois Lake, of his commission as a justice of the peace has been accepted by the Government.

Want Space for Exhibits—Messrs. Hill-Touts, Heaps, Bates, Coldicutt and Wilkie composed a deputation from the Fraser Valley Publicity Bureau which waited upon Attorney-General Bowser during his mid-week visit to Vancouver, their mission being to secure space in the Progress Club at Vancouver for the display of agricultural and other products of the lower Fraser Valley. The Provincial Government recently purchased by subsidy twelve hundred feet of floor space in the Progress Club quarters for the display of exhibits from all parts of the Province. Of this the bureau was allowed 100 feet, and later 150 feet. They now ask for a second additional allotment or as an alternative a cash donation from the treasury to enable them to purchase space from the Progress Club direct.

Companies Incorporated—During the present week certificates of incorporation under the British Columbia Companies Act have been issued to Anthony's Limited; Anthony-Ferguson, Ltd.; the Bull Olmstead Co., Ltd.; Chee Kong Tong Co., Ltd.; Davies Paper Box Co., Ltd.; Dimock Trading and Mercantile Co., Ltd.; Mirror Lake Electric Light Co., Ltd.; Mount Olie Power Co., Ltd.; Northern Dredging Co., Ltd.; Railway Townsites, Ltd.; Reserve Mutual Fire Insurance Co.; Sage-Creek Oil Co., Ltd.; Sanitary Laundry and Linen Supply Co., Ltd.; Shuswap Cattle Co., Ltd.; Shrine Temple Association Co., Ltd.; Vancouver Opera House, Ltd.; Victoria Development Co., Ltd.; Victoria Liquor Co., Ltd.; Western Press, Ltd., and Whonnock Brick and Tile Co., Ltd. There have also been licensed or registered as extra-provincial companies, the Dominion Bridge Co., Ltd.; M. Melachrino & Co., of Canada, Ltd.; Canadian British Engineering Co. and Dominion Market Company, Ltd.

GOOD COOKING AT TEA KETTLE

The Alvensleben Daily Gazette

Friday Morning, March 14, 1913

The by-law for the raising of $700,000 for sewer and drainage purposes is a good step in the right direction and will receive a hearty support from all electors who realize the rapid growth of suburban districts. An enormous outlay must always be necessary for municipal necessities of this nature, and in this respect Victoria must not lag behind.

As the City Beautiful, her reputation is worth living up to, and the fact must not be lost sight of that all improvements greatly increase the value of property and provide additional attractions to such investment opportunities as the following:

Fort Street

Corner 168 x 150

This property is situated across the street from the Jubilee Hospital, with a modern eight-roomed house, which is rented for $55 per month. There is no piece of property in the city which will give the purchaser more profit in a short time than this. Terms, one-fourth cash, balance one and two years. Priced for immediate sale at the ridiculously low price of $10,000

Assembly of the University School Boy Scouts

BOY SCOUTS WILL HOLD EXHIBITION

Opens This Evening at St. John's Hall, Herald Street—Every Phase of Scout Life Is to Be Depicted.

Those responsible for the Boy Scouts movement in Victoria have been feeling for some time the want of a central headquarters for the whole of the brigade, and in order to start the nucleus for funds to that end an exhibition of Scoutcraft is being held today and tomorrow at St. John's hall on Herald Street. The exhibition opens at 7 o'clock this evening and at it will be seen exhibits of every phase of Scout life and work that can be shown in a room, which it is hoped will enable the public of Victoria to realize the value to their boys of the all-round development of body and intelligence which the training in the corps achieves.

Demonstrations will be given by the boys of physical drill, life-saving and ambulance work, signalling, including the use of the telephone and wireless telegraphy, acrobatic performances, cooking and commissariat supply. Stalls will be devoted to a recruiting office, candy store and shoe-shining, and the Scouts' Own orchestra will play during the evening.

Exhibits will be shown by each troop as a whole, the work of their own hands, model bridges, camps and so on. Also exhibits made by individual scouts including an aeroplane, pathfinding maps and sketches, mounted wild flowers and photographs, target scores for the Oscar Bass trophy, and models in clay.

The committee in charge of this exhibition consists of Mr. F. M. Ward, scoutmaster of the 7th troop (chairman), Mr. J. E. Andrews, scoutmaster (secretary), and Messrs. J. Davey and H. R. Selfe, scoutmasters. Tomorrow the exhibition opens at 2 o'clock and 7 o'clock.

SETTLERS ON NOOTKA ISLAND WELL CONTENT

Boast Their Climate Beats That of Victoria and Sooke—Many Settlers Expected This Summer.

A cheery letter from the branch secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League at Nootka was received at the head office in Victoria yesterday. "We are," he writes, "all busy with our improvements. Thirty-nine settlers have staked now and about twenty-five are here and the rest expected in the Spring, when a large influx is expected. There is still lots of good land open for pre-emption although it would be easier for settlers to locate if the place were surveyed. We have the finest climate in Canada, bar no place. I thought Victoria and Sooke were unsurpassable but they must take a back seat when Nootka Island enters the show. Only four days rain in February; the rest has been bright sunshine. We had a few inches of snow in January but it only remaned for a few days."

VANCOUVER DELEGATION TO ATTEND MEETING

Important Assembly of Imperial Order Daughters of Empire at Alexandra Club

An important meeting of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire in this Province, will be held this morning, at 10:30, in the Alexandra Club ballroom, for the purpose of organizing the Provincial Chapter of British Columbia. This will be attended by a large delegation from Vancouver, consisting of Lady Tupper, Mrs. J. M. Lefevre, Mrs. C. G. Henshaw, Mrs. Francis Hartley, Mrs. F. McDowell, Mrs. Francis Harrison, Mrs. Fullerton, Mrs. D'Allain Davidson, Mrs. Douglas Armour, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Arthur Ray, Mrs. [illegible], Madame [illegible], Mrs. Henderson, Miss McConnell [illegible] and Miss Annie [illegible], municipal secretary-treasurer. Representatives will be appointed for the [illegible] in [illegible] Prince Rupert and [illegible]. Lady Tupper and Mrs. Armour arrived from Vancouver last evening and were met at the [illegible] the Coronation Day chapter and organizing secretary of the Provincial chapter; Mrs. David Miller, regent of the Agnes Deans Cameron chapter, and Mrs. Jenkins, regent of the Municipal chapter. Lady Tupper, who is a daughter-in-law of Sir Charles Tupper, the veteran father of Confederation, is expected to move the resolution for the formation of the chapter, which will be seconded by Mrs. Dennis Harris, daughter of Sir James Douglas, first Governor of British Columbia.

At the close of this morning's session, which will be full of interest, luncheon will be served the visitors in the pretty grey and pink dining room of the club. It is practically certain that the amount of business will necessitate an afternoon session, and in the evening the delegates and members of local chapters are invited to a reception which is to be given by Mrs. Henry Croft, Mount Adelaide, Esquimalt, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock.

POULTRY RECORDS WANTED

Livestock Commissioner at Ottawa Solicits Information From Every Systematic Breeder

As a means of furthering the policy of developing the poultry interests of the Dominion in which the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture is actively engaged, the Live Stock Commissioner is anxious to secure the name and address of each breeder of poultry in Canada who is systematically endeavoring to improve the quality of his stock, particularly from the standpoint of increased egg and meat production.

The information is desired in order that the Live Stock Branch may be brought more closely in touch with progressive poultrymen throughout the Dominion and with those whose names might be eligible for inclusion in a Dominion poultry directory.

As a means of securing this information, in part at least, all those who are interested are requested to write the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, indicating:

(a) The breed, variety and strain or family of poultry they are breeding.

(b) The extent to which selection for increased egg and meat production is being practised.

(c) A brief but specific statement of what has been accomplished.

(d) Whether or not they are actively engaged in trap-nesting at the present time. If not, what means are being used to select the most desirable individuals for the breeding pens.

Letters giving the above information should be addressed to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa. Such communications do not requfiire postage.

DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES

Coroner's Inquiry Into Death of Dr. McGregor Shows Reason for Demise

That death was due to natural causes was the verdict of the coroner's jury which yesterday afternoon investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of Dr. John Johnston McGregor, a guest at the Fairfield hotel, whose body was found in bed in his room on Wednesday afternoon.

The evidence of Dr. Bryant who performed the postmortem examination showed that Dr. McGregor had died from the effects of a clot of blood in the left pulmonary artery which resulted in suffocation. Dr. Bryant stated that death wos certainly due to natural causes. All the other organs were normal.

Mr. Seabrook Young, with whom Dr. McGregor lived in May last year, during a visit to the city, testified to his having been seized with a sudden illness which soon passed away. He had seen Dr. McGregor about ten days ago, and he then appeared to be in good health and spirits.

Testimony of the finding of the body in the room at the hotel was given by Sergeant Clayards and the night clerk at the hotel.

Mr. Seabrook Young stated that Dr. McGregor was about 55 years of age and had practiced for some years in England. He had intended to practice in British Columbia and was preparing to take the necessary examination.

NEW CITIES INCORPORATED

Port Coquitlam and Port Moody Obtain Civic Dignity

The current issue of The British Columbia Gazette contains the official proclamation of the incorporation of the new cities of Port Coquitlam and Port Moody, arrangements for the elections of Mayors and Councils being duly consummated.

In Port Moody it is understood that the Mayoralty will be contested by Mr. John H. McNeice, who was an Independent Conservative candidate in Dewdney at the last general election for the Provincial House, and Mr. P. D. Roe, a well-known resident of the baby city.

The question of the incorporation of Pitt Meadows as a municipality is not yet decided, owing chiefly to some dispute with Maple Ridge as to boundary line divisions, and the whole matter will probably remain in abeyance until a satisfactory arrangement can be effected.

Carefully Investigate Player-Pianos

Go about the selection of your Player-Piano with the same care and thoroughness that would guide you were the purchase price ten times greater. Let your investigations cover these most essential points:

1st—Know the piano in which the player is installed. Search the reputation of its maker and carefully test its tone, action and workmanship.

2nd—Investigate the player action and know that it is not one of the freak products with which the market is flooded. Test it for volume, for delicacy; try it for yourself and note whether it pedals easily. Then try the expression devices and see what YOU can accomplish in real musical expression.

3rd—Know the house from which you buy. Be certain that their business methods are beyond reproach; that they represent only manufacturers of unquestioned reputation, and that their player-pianos are priced at their real worth.

The genuine Gerhard Heintzman Player-Piano will stand any fair and reasonable test, because it is Canada's best player-piano, just as the Gerhard Heintzman Piano is Canada's best piano.

The price of the genuine Gerhard Heintzman Player-Piano is no greater than that of many inferior player-pianos. We sell it on the most reasonable terms. Why not come in some day this week and test it for yourself? There is no obligation attached.

MATTERS OF MOMENT IN WOMEN'S REALM

A Bad Omen.

Dr. Wasson's report that there are several cases of curvature of the spine among school children in the city may well occasion grave apprehension and the further report of the two medical gentlemen who are on the board of school trustees will be awaited with anxiety.

In Victoria we have always hitherto been proud of the physique of the citizens and the excellent system of open air physical drill taught for many years by Mr. Sam St. Clair have combined to counteract the effects of confinements.

The great majority of school children have grown up to be strong men and women. In those cases where there was danger of the narrowing of the chest and the stooping to which studious children of weak constitutions are prone the careful examinations and good advice of the physical instructor did much to prevent illness. When teachers and parents co-operate the defects were in the great majority of cases remedied.

In these days it is scarcely possible that the accommodation for children in the schools can be as bad as it was in the past. Desks are being improved every year and more attention is being paid to the arrangement of the furniture.

Whatever may be the cause of the curvature it is to be hoped that the poor children will be helped and that the causes which led to their sad affliction will be removed if they exist in our schools. Robust physical health must not be sacrificed even to the education of the children.

Kindness to Animals.

The teachers in our public schools are exhorted to teach their pupils to be kind to animals. One wonders whether there is any teacher who does not, whenever an opportunity offers, give such teaching. There is very little evidence that Victoria boys and girls willingly hurt living creatures.

The pity is that they have not more pets to be kind to. In a city only a very small porportion of the pupils can own a dog. The little ones love their kittens and it is only their mothers who are so cruel as to leave the cats to fend for themselves in the camping season.

The birds, indeed, should be protected more carefully and we may be sure that each of the teachers warns the boys against wanton destruction either of the little creatures or their nests.

In these days, when one sees women lavish upon dogs the love that ought to be reserved for children a question arises whether the time has not come when love and pity for the helpless of our own race should be encouraged rather than an exaggerated and false sentiment toward the lower animals.

The natural tenderness of Florence Nightingale towards the wounded shepherd dog and the healthy love of Sir Walter Scott and many another British gentleman towards his faithful companion are quite different sentiments from those which make society women parade their affection for expensive pets.

When kindness to animals is the overflow of a heart filled with love to mankind it is commendable. When it is a manifestation of selfishness it becomes hateful to all right thinking people.

Hospital Work

Most middle-aged people remember that the care of the sick was looked upon as an obligation which every neighbor might feel herself called upon to fulfil. The mother was nursed by the women of the settlement or district, who were ready to take turns sitting up at night and who, somehow, managed to get through their own work next day. There are stories told of the women who nursed fever-stricken patients in what are now the great and prosperous cities of the Middle West, that would have done honor to the Lives of the Saints had their work been done in the earlier age.

All this has passed away. The trained nurse and the institution have taken the place of the warm-hearted and unselfish volunteer. Services which were then rendered for love are now performed by trained women who are paid for their labor. Much has been gained in knowledge and efficiency. Perhaps something has been lost in tenderness and helpfulness. Some of us wonder whether the women who are now busied about many things are as true, as loving and as wise as the mothers whose sweet faces are among the memories of our childhood.

The old things and the old ways have gone, and in this respect, even the most old-fashioned of us are forced to acknowledge that new methods have tended to benefit the health and lengthen the lives of our people. Nor is there any reason why those who wish to lessen suffering should not satisfy the generous impulse. Though even in our own homes we prefer to engage a skilled nurse in cases of serious illness, there are hundreds of our fellow citizens who cannot afford to pay either the expenses of a nurse or the fees of the hospital. The grants from city and Government cover, in such cases, the cost of maintenance, but do not provide for the waste of equipment that every housekeeper knows goes on wherever there is sickness.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital undertake to keep all the rooms and wards supplied with linen and warm bedding, to replace broken china and to buy from time to time articles of furniture which are imperatively needed. The want or even the scarcity of any of these things must cause great discomfort and retard the recovery of patients. Though there are a large number of women who by becoming members of the Women's Auxiliary contribute to this fund, there must be far more who do not, even to this extent, help in providing for the comfort of the sick. There are few who could not afford the small sums which, taken collectively, would do so much good.

Many ladies who have been actively engaged in hospital work before coming to Victoria and who have leisure can find congenial work in the society. The many, whose hours are busy and whose minds are filled with the care of their own homes, will be glad, out of the kindness of their hearts, to contribute [illegible]

The managers of the rest room on Courtney Street are anxious to obtain more workers. Members of the widely spread organization of King's Daughters have since last Autumn spent two hours each day in attending to the needs of the working girls who have found in the rest room, what is to be had nowhere else in the city, a public place where a working woman can spend a quiet and restful noon hour in a room bright with sunshine and filled with fresh air. Everyone who thinks will see that there is need of kind and sympathetic superintendence of such a room. Tired girls want a friendly greeting almost as much as the cup of tea or cocoa they have come to buy. It is plain, however, that the same people cannot spend the midday hours there month after month. One day a week can be arranged for without much sacrifice under ordinary circumstances but sickness or absence or other interruptions are sure to come. This is why the King's Daughters are appealing for volunteers from their members. They feel that among the young women there must be many who would be glad to give their services if they felt that by doing so they would be obeying the spirit of the order which lays stress on the importance of little acts of kindness. There is room in the organization for any or all who are willing to "lend a hand." Any further information can be obtained by ringing up the secretary whose telephone number is 434.

LESSON IS TAUGHT IN AUCTION OF CHILDREN

Christianty Acknowledged High Bidder Over Pleasure, Fashion, Money and Vice

An interesting meeting was held last evening in the Salvation Army Citadel, when, with Ensign McDonald acting as auctioneer, a number of children were knocked down to the highest bidder. The bidding was followed with a great deal of interest, as were the decisions of the ensign, who pointed out at the beginning of the meeting that a child was composed of three parts, body, souls and spirit. The bid that would be considered the highest that evening would be that which met the highest demands of all three. The first bidder was Pleasure, ably represented by Miss Alice Saunders, who offered the children sports of all kinds, picture shows and other kinds of amusement. The ensign in his capacity as auctioneer pointed out, however, that many of the things to which she referred were of a questionable character, and finally declared that if he could not get a better bid for the children they should not be sold.

The next bidder was Bandmaster Coggan, who represented the doubtful pleasures of drink and cigarette smoking, his own "make-up" suggesting a somewhat close acquaintance with the former habit. He dilated upon the pleasant time he could give the children, but he failed to convince the ensign, who finally dismissed him as he had done the previous bidder.

Fashion, represented by Mrs. William McNeill, made the next bid, but met with a similar fate, the ensign pointing out that the very things which she could give the children were those which they would like to see them without.

Money, impersonated by Mr. Alfred Wesley, made the next bid, and was sent away, after which Mrs. McDonald, bidding for the children in the name of Christianity, said that she was glad that Education, the bidder whom she had the most reason to dread had not been able to be present, for the others were easily disposed of. It had been her experience, she said in her little talk, that the people who sought after pleasure most madly were always the most dissatisfied. Education was a splendid and an important thing, but if they put it in the place of true Christianity they were making a mistake, which if not corrected in time would lead to eternal punishment. Nothing was so important as a knowledge of Christ. Christianity was acknowledged the successful bidder.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Change of Name—Application has been made to the registrar of Joint Stock Companies for his approval of the change of the corporate name of Shaw Bros., Limited to that of the British Canadian Photo Supply Company, Ltd.

Spurious $10 Bills—Clever bill raisers are reported to be operating at present either in Vancouver or this city, their specialty being the conversion of genuine American one dollar notes into spurious "tens." A "nought" is neatly added to the "one," and the bill passed as a rule successfully upon some unsuspecting merchant.

Time Extended—Formal notice has been given by the Burrard, Westminster and Boundary Railway and Navigation Company, commonly referred to as the White Rock line, that application will shortly be made to the Dominion Government for legislation extending the time allowed for the construction of this line and also authorizing the increase of the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

City Engineer Talks—In the Connaught Hall, View Street, today, Mr. C. H. Rust will deliver a short address upon the problems of civic engineering, at a luncheon arranged by the Real Estate Exchange. The function commences at 12:30, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of members. In addition to Mr. Rust there will be present two delegates from the Saskatoon Realty Exchange, in the persons of Messrs. Hanson, the president, and Mr. Turner, member of the executive, both of whom are here on a short vacation.

Guarantee of Sewerage Bonds—A petition has been made to the local Government by representatives of the existing Burrard Peninsula Joint Sewerage Commission who desire the immediate issuance of a proclamation bringing into force and effect the act recently passed by the Provincial Legislature under which the Province undertakes to guarantee local bonds for sewerage improvements in Vancouver city and its environs to the extent of five million dollars. BIG SURPRISE DUE SOME FANS

Dobie Shows Cleverness In Training—Will Take It Easy Now Until Monday—Had Goodwin Going.

There appears to be an inclination to side with Tom Moore in the Moore-Dobie contest on the part of many of Victoria's followers of the manly art. Not that they think such a lot of the Nanaimo lightweight, but they can't seem to see this Dobie person at all. For this division of local fandom there is an awful surprise coming Monday night when Moore and Dobie meet in fifteen rounds at Nanaimo.

Although he now calls himself a Victorian, Dobie is comparatively a newcomer to the city and, having never seen him in action, the fans are naturally inclined to be sceptical when they hear it reported that he is both clever and can hit. Just how good he is remains to be seen, when he is tested under fire, but his work in training reveals as plainly as anything can that he is more than a match for Moore, unless the latter has wonderfully improved since his bout with Bayley.

Victorians hardly had a fair chance to appraise Moore's ability in his meeting with Bayley as he was playing for a draw and kept covered pretty well all the time, but even at that those who have seen Dobie work out confidently look for a victory for the local boy.

The other day Dobie staggered Al Goodwin, who was a good twenty-five the heavier, with a series of right and left swings to the head and Goodwin almost went down. Any time anybody can do that to Goodwin he must be quick and clever, for Al's chief stock in trade is a guard that is almost impregnable.

Dobie finished a month of hard training on Wednesday and will now take it easy. He looks trim and fit and tips the scales at 131 pounds.

A big crowd of local fans is expected to attend the contest, which is to be held in the Princess Theatre, Nanaimo. An excursion will be run from here.

WINNIPEGS READY FOR TOURNEY AT TORONTO

TORONTO, March 13.—Manager Livingstone, of the Toronto R. and R. A., received a wire this morning from the Winnipegs, the Allan cupholders, that their season would be over next Monday night. They will leave for Toronto immediately and expect to be here Thursday so as to have a workout or two before the first of the two games Saturday night. Total goals in the games Saturday and Monday will count for the new trophy. One game will be played under the O. H. A. rules, and the other under Western rules.

CLOTHIERS COME BACK AND BEAT JEWELERS

The Fitzpatrick & O'Connell hockey team "came-back" last night and defeated the Shortt, Hill & Duncan team by a two to nothing score, at the Arena, last night. The game was fast from the flag-drop, the feature being the grand checking back of the winners. The Jewelers gave a fine display, but were outclassed by the speedy Clothiers.

WITH THE BOWLERS

An interesting match was rolled on the Arcade Alleys last evening between the Victoria hockey players and the Syndicated Properties team, the former winning all three games.

Also a hard-fought contest took place in which the Arcades won two of three games from the "Two Jacks" five. The scores:

Old Country Soccer.

LONDON, March 13.—An enormous crowd gathered at Newcastle yesterday for the replayed game in the fourth round of the F. A. Cup between Newcastle United and Sunderland, this game played on the latter's grounds having resulted in a pointless draw. No score was recorded in the first half and intense excitement followed play towards the close of the second half when it was seen that neither side was likely to pierce the stubborn defence of its opponent. When time was called no tally had been made and a quarter of an hour's extra time was played without any result.

The following postponed league games were played off yesterday:

First Division—Sheffield United 1, Everton 0; Aston Villa 1, Derby County 0; Manchester City 1, Oldham Athletic 0.

Second Division—Huddersfield Town 1, Wolverhampton Wanderers 1; Grimsby Town 1, Burnley 0.

Southern League—Plymouth Argyle 1, Brentford 1.

Dark Blues Are Victors in Famous Struggle

FIFTH STRAIGHT WIN FOR OXFORD

Dark Blues Winners of Annual Boat Race by Quarter of Length—Weight and Experience Told.

PUTNEY, Eng., March 13.—Oxford won the annual boat race with Cambridge on the Thames today by a quarter of a length. The start was at 4:38 o'clock. Cambridge took the lead at once and was half a length in front at the middle distance. Oxford overhauled her in the last quarter mile. The course was four and a quarter miles.

Oxford's time was 20 minutes 53 seconds.

The race was set for late afternoon owing to the tide conditions. Cambridge won the toss for choice of stations. At the starting pistol Cambridge immediately took the lead and maintained it, pulling a stroke of 36 to the minute.

At the half-mile Cambridge was half a length ahead. At the mile they were still leading, and at Hammersmith bridge, about half the distance, they were half a length in front.

Oxford then began to get in slowly. At Barnes bridge, a quarter mile from the finish, Cambridge was still leading. Then the superior power of the Oxford crew carried them to the front, and they won by a bare quarter length. Oxford has now won 39 races and Cambridge 30, while one was a dead heat.

The battle of the "Blues" for the aquatic honors of the year between eight-oared crews representing Oxford and Cambridge—dark and light blue respectively—attracted its usual thousands of spectators. At dawn, citizens of London began to surge over the bridges crossing the Thames, between Putney and Mortlake, waiting along the banks for one fleeting glimpse of the contestants.

The Oxford crew, half veterans, was the favorite, and was heavier than any that had occupied a dark blue shell in many years. The Cambridge men, lighter and less experienced than their opponents, nevertheless showed themselves fighters during training, and were declared today to be in top form.

They were pronounced by experts the best crew from Cambridge in a decade. For the first time in the annual race between the two varsity crews, Cambridge rowed in a centre-seated boat. As in the past the majority of the oarsmen on both crews learned to handle an oar at Eton, but the colonial Rhodes scholars are beginning to break into the last stronghold of English sport. Last year C. W. B. Littlejohn, of Melbourne, rowed seven and two Australians, H. K. Ward and C. L. Baillieu occupied seats in the Oxford shell.

Great precautions were taken to guard against any outrage by militant suffragettes which might mar the race. The boathouses were watched with great vigilance throughout the night, and women were forbidden to stand on the bridges under which the racing crews passed.

MAY PLAY McKECHNIE GAME IN NANAIMO

Mainlanders Want It in Terminal City Claiming That Victorians Are in Position of Challengers

Word has been received by the Victoria Rugby Union to the effect that Vancouver wants the deciding McKechnie Cup game played in Vancouver Easter Monday. Vancouver officials claim that the Victorians are in the position of challengers since Vancouver won the championship last season and that the game should therefore be played on Terminal City grounds.

Secretary Scott, of the local union, shows that they are wrong on that point, however, by referring back to the conditions under which the cup was presented by Dr. McKechnie in 1896, which say that the cup shall be held by the club winning it until October 1, when it shall be turned over to the British Columbia Union to be played for again.

The conditions also contain a clause which says that in the event of a tie the deciding game shall be played off on neutral grounds. Going by this the local officials have written the Vancouver Union that they are willing to have the game played in Nanaimo, there being no apparent chance of the Mainland team coming to Victoria, where undoubtedly the biggest "gate" could be obtained.

FRAGMENTS OF SPORT

Stovall, Taskmaster

A dispatch from Waco, Texas, says: George Stovall has begun as a harder taskmaster than his predecessors, "Jim" McAleer, "Jack" O'Connor and "Bob" Wallace ever dared to be. After being manager of the St. Louis Browns last June he earned the reputation of being "one of the players," but "work hard and hustle" is the motto printed at the bottom of the list of rules which he handed to each player after a meeting of those in camp here last night.

Smoking in uniform, of course, is forbidden, but one thing that Stovall insists he will not permit is the smoking of a cigarette by a player before he has had his breakfast.

A rule that is aimed at a number of "bushers" who come up annually and whose dress often unfits them as residents of first class hotels is one which requires the wearing of white collars and boiled shirts in the lobbies and cafes of the hostleries.

Has Bat That Rings

When Catcher Meyers of the Giants reported at Marlin this year he brought with him his new bat which he made out in Riverside, Cal. where he lives. The bat is made of extremely hard wood, which was used by the Indians for making bows and arrows, and the wood was given to the Chief by an Indian friend. The stick is so heavy that all the boys wonder how the redskin can swing it with such force, and it rings when the ball hits it with that mellow sound that is pleasing to the ears of all ballplayers.

America in Hard Luck

"America got the worst of the drawings for the Davis cup," says Dr. Edward B. Dewhurst, formerly American intercollegiate tennis champion. "In the very first round America meets her most formidable adversary, Australia, and the winner of this match will no doubt be the challenger against England in the final round. It was thought that the change of play to England would benefit the American team, because it would do away with the long journey, but this has been made of little consequence by our bad luck in having to play Australia first."

To Start Training

George Horine, holder of world's high jumping record of 6 feet, 7 inches, is about to resume training for an extensive campaign during 1913. The former student at Stanford University is now traveling for a San Francisco sporting goods house and will make the Garden City his training quarters for the coming outdoor track season.

Horine being a member of the San Francisco Olympic club and a participant in many of its field meets has found it necessary to train seriously in order to perform up to his reputation as a high jumper.

Hero of Welshmen

The belief among Welshmen that W. J. Trew is the greatest Rugby player in the world was vastly strengthened by the result of the Scotland and Wales match.

They base this belief not merely on Trew's powers as a player, but largely on his generalship and still more on his personality.

With Trew in the side, a different spirit seems to prevade the team. Without him they are convictionless; with him they play as if assured of victory. His moral influence is tremendous and it would be worth while for Wales to play him even when he is "eighty years old and on crutches!" No player has served his country better in the world of sport than the idol of Swansea.

Lipton Surprised

Sir Thomas Lipton, challenger for the America's cup, expressed the greatest surprise when informed that the New York Yacht Club had declined his challenge because it did not comply with the conditions of the deed of gift. Sir Thomas said he had not had time to consider whether he would amend the conditions of his challenge so as to meet the objections. He expects, however, to confer with his designer, Nicholson of Gosport, on the subject immediately.

McFARLAND AGREES TO MEET FRED WELSH IF—

NEW YORK, March 13.—Packey McFarland has agreed to meet Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, at the Olympia, London, providing he receives a guarantee of $10,000 and $500 expenses, the bout to take place on a date to be named by himself. This was the answer to a cable received by Billy Gibson, his representative, from Geo. McDonald of London offering McFarland [illegible] and [illegible] expenses.

FIRST CHANCE SAYS KAUFMAN

Alleged Hold-Out Writes He Is Ready to Pitch First Game for Bees—Programme of Practice Games.

Who said Kaufman was a holdout? Don't you believe it. "Coffee" was just playing a little joke on "Watty." The joke lost a lot of its effect because of its lack of originality, but nevertheless it is possible to squeeze one little laugh out of it now. Yesterday Kaufman wrote that he would be on the job without fail and would be ready to pitch the first game. President Wattelet wrote back telling him to hustle in his contract and all would be well. The president expects those other two funny fellows, Meek and Wilson, to communicate with him in the same pleasing strain before the week is out. The programme of exhibition games at the Royal Athletic Park is just about complete now, only two dates remaining to be filled. Starting from Monday, the day for reporting, there will be some kind of entertainment at the park every afternoon. On Fridays and Saturdays outside teams will do battle with the Bees, and on most other days the Regulars and Yannigans will play a few innings. A bona fide nine frame contest between these two teams will be put on Easter Monday.

Next Friday morning and afternoon games will be played, the Olympics, a semi-pro team of Tacoma, visiting. On the Saturday following the Olympics will again be seen in action with Mike Lynch's squad. The following Friday and Saturday are open, but on April 4 and 5 the Ballards will be here, and on April 11 and 12 the University of Washington.

Word has been received by the Victoria Baseball Club that the National Commission has reopened the Percy Merritt case. Garry Herrman has written the local club, stating that the case will again be heard. Mike Lynch will arrive in Victoria the last of this week to look over the hotel arrangements.

VICTORIAS TO PLAY McGILL FIELD HOCKEY

The following team will represent the Victorias in their game against the McGill University at the Oak Bay grounds on Saturday, starting at 3 o'clock: Goal, Mayne; backs, Arnold and Sullivan; halves, Jones, S. Winsby (Capt.), Morris; forwards, T. Winsby, McInnes, Pallthorpe, Wiseman and J. McArthur.

WINNIPEG CHAMPIONS DEFEND ALLAN CUP

WINNIPEG, Man., March 13.—The Winnipegs, holders of the Allan Cup, made their first successful defence of the trophy when they defeated the Moose Jaw challengers in the final game tonight by a score of 10 to 3.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

(From The Colonist of March 14, 1863)

Base Ball—The first match of the season was played at Beacon Hill, on Saturday last, chiefly by Canadians. Baseball is essentially an American game, but was introduced into Canada, and has been practiced there in several parts for many years. It is somewhat in the nature of cricket, with the exception that there are no wickets used, and instead of the ball being thrown on the ground it is directed towards the batter, who strikes at it in the air. The runs are made by the person striking the ball and running around a circle, there being several stopping places, each of which counts. If the batter strikes at the ball and misses it, he is "out," but he may let it pass him as many times as he pleases without striking at it. Among those practicing on Saturday there were very few adepts, and consequently not very much [illegible] among the spectators [illegible] would otherwise have been the [illegible]

TALK ENGLISH RUGBY IN EAST

Introduction of Game in Other Parts of Dominion Besides This Coast Appears to Be in Sight.

The introduction of English Rugby football in other parts of the Dominion besides the British Columbia Coast now appears to be in sight. A letter from J. J. Buchanan, an enthusiastic follower of the game, who resides in Montreal, brings the information that a new English Rugby club, known as the United Banks E. R. F. C., has been formed in Montreal and that interest in the game in Quebec is gradually being roused sufficiently to make the establishment of other clubs probable.

The game in the Province of Quebec is a tender plant so far, but according to report, the material is there for the making of first class teams, and it is believed that with the co-operation of the extreme East and West it will not be long before the game will take as firm a hold in Canada as it has in other British colonies.

Game Misunderstood

English Rugby is a game which, unfortunately, is entirely misunderstood in the East, the chief reason being that good exhibitions of the game have never been seen there. Given a thorough tryout there is hardly a doubt but that it would be permanently adopted. Its attractiveness cannot be questioned, and it has many points of superiority over Canadian Rugby, which is extensively played east of the Rockies.

The English Rugby Football Union has a membership of over four hundred first class clubs in Great Britain, Ireland, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India, South America, France and Canada, but the number of clubs in Canada is very small. It is regrettable that Canada is the only part of the British Empire which, although nearest to Great Britain, has so far been unable to send a representative fifteen to England. This is because only a certain part of Canada plays the game. Except on this coast, Canadians have a Rugby game of their own, which nobody else plays and which was adopted when English Rugby was little else but a fight and a scramble and not by any means the thrilling and spectacular sport which it is today.

Hampered on Coast

Teams from the overseas part of the Kingdom have several times visited the Coast, and the sending of a British Columbia team to England or Australia has been mooted, but owing to the scarcity of clubs to pick from it would be impossible to select a side that could compete with the crack teams of other centres with a chance of winning.

It is hoped that in a few years hence the game will thrive to such an extent that Canada also will be able to give an account of herself on the international English Rugby football field.

BILLIARD TROPHY FOR LOCAL LEAGUE

Bob Cliburn, of Vancouver, has announced that he will donate a handsome Burroughs & Watts trophy to be competed for by Vancouver Island billiard teams. It is believed that four teams at least will be entered in a league to be formed in Victoria for next season. The winners in the Island League and the B. C. League in Vancouver will play off home and home games for the Provincial championship.

Arcade Club Opening

It is announced that the Arcade Athletic Club's opening night has been set for March 25, when a boxing card will be put on at the club rooms, 1230 Government Street. Only club members will be admitted. Officers of the club are: President, W. E. Staples; vice-president, T. J. Fox; secretary and treasurer, R. H. Parliament; committee, O. H. Bowman, J. O. Parliament, Joe Gorman, A. Edwards, Peter Turner, Solicitor, Geo. Morphy.

McAllister Is "Hope"

OAKLAND, Cal., March 13.—"Bob" McAllister, the young Olympic Club boxer, won his first professional fight here last night when he was given the decision over Willie Meehan, the fighting newsboy, in a fast 10-round contest. Much interest centred on the match, as it was McAllister's tryout for heavyweight honors.

Y. M. C. A. Football

The Y. M. C. A. team for Saturday's match against the Empires will be composed as follows: Goal, McArthur; backs, Warnicker and J. Main; halves, Peachey, Lynn, Thoresby; forwards, McKay, Stott, Coles, W. Main and Erickson. Reserves, Bulmer and Hodges. The game begins at 2:45 on the Empires' ground at the corner of Montreal and Dallas Road.

Basketball Games

At the Y. M. C. A. in the Sunday School Bible Class League, the Baptists yesterday beat the Methodists by 32 points to 8, and in the House League the Pirates scored 34 points to the 24 of their opponents, the Cubs.

S. O. E. Soccer Team

The Sons of England line-up for Saturday's game with the Thistles will be: Mundy; Vincent and Maxwell; Martin, Kelsall and Booth; Mason, King, Kerley, Douglas and F. Kerley (captain).

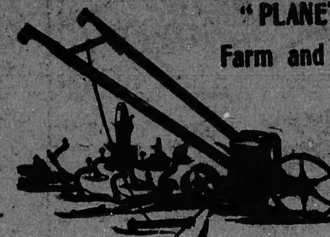

Pre-Season Ball

OAKLAND, Cal., March 13.—The Chicago White Sox defeated Oakland today by a score of five to two.

STARS' LINEUP SHIFTED SOME

Si Griffis Not Coming for Game Here Tonight — Statistics Show Victoria Champions Lead in Many Things.

Owing to the fact that six man hockey will be played in tonight's match at the Arena Rink it is announced from Vancouver that the Mainland star team will be shifted around. Carl Kendall will be dropped from the lineup and will act as first utility, Fred Taylor playing centre. Si. Griffis will not make the trip and Frank Patrick will perform at point. The rest of the picked team will be the same.

The champions will start without Genge although it is probable he will be shoved in later on to take the place of Bobby Rowe, who was slightly injured in last Tuesday's game, or some other man. If he is feeling right Walter Smaill, the star left wing, will also be seen on the ice for awhile. Smaill is being primed for the world's championship series with Quebec and no undue chances will be taken with him.

Complete statistics of the Pacific Coast Hockey League season have been compiled and they show that the Capitals led in several things other than number of games won. Dunderdale, of Victoria, was the leading goal getter; Skinner Poulin managed to nose Fred Harris out in unmber of penalties received; the Capitals led in team penalties and had less goals scored against them than either of the other teams, although they engaged in one more game than Vancouver and two more than Westminster. In the matter of assists Bobby Rowe with 7 was second to Frank Patrick and Taylor of Vancouver, who had 8.

The goal scoring records have already been given out. The team and individual penalty records are:

FINANCIAL AID IS SOUGHT

Development League Deputation Waits on Provincial Executive for Assistance

At a meeting of the Provincial Executive yesterday a request for financial assistance in its work was presented on behalf of the Vancouver Island Development League, in whose interest Hon. Col. E. G. Prior, Mr. Simon Leiser, Mr. J. J. Shallcross, Mr. W. J. Sutton and Mr. Ernest McGaffey pointed to the excellent publicity work for the advantage of this section of British Columbia that the league has been doing during some time past. The question of the necessity for the desired aid and the advantageous uses to which it would be put if allowed, were fully entered into, a reply being promised on Monday next.

During yesterday's executive meeting, Messrs. Tunstall and Moore, representing the Canadian Explosives Limited, were also heard in support of the proposal of their company to establish a plant for the manufacture of explosives on James Island. This matter after a short discussion stood over, the company to submit to the Government plans and details of its projected undertaking.

An exceptionally heavy list of business will receive consideration at the next cabinet conference, to be held next Monday, this being the last meeting of the executive prior to the departure of the First Minister on his California trip.

DEFUNCT BANK'S AFFAIRS

Cheque for More Than $6,000, Representing Unclaimed Dividends, Paid Into Provincial Treasury

All due forms having been complied with, the Provincial Treasury yesterday accepted a cheque for $6,208.01 tendered by Mr. B. B. Heisterman, the official assignee for the defunct Green-Worlock & Co. Bank, representing the aggregate of unclaimed dividends at the date of the assignee's release by order-of-court.

These balances, running from a few cents up to $1,[illegible], will now pass into the consolidated revenues of the Province, but may be claimed at any time by those rightfully entitled, upon proof of [illegible]

Worlock Bank, which could not have perhaps been anticipated, is that had the liquidators been gifted with prophetic insight and retained possession of the bank's Victoria property until now, instead of making an earlier sale, the returns undoubtedly would have been more than sufficient to meet all claims dollar for dollar and even leave a bonus to the advantage of the several creditors.

SANDON WANTS POOH BAH

Official Receiver of City Will Be Head of Many Administrative Offices

Modesty would appear to be the outstanding characteristic of the residents of the Slocan, for although for several weeks the Government has been on the look out for a suitable appointee for the receivership of the City of Sandon, the parliamentary representative of that district has at yet been unable to recommend the right man. Sandon is in none too affluent circumstances, and under authority of special legislation enacted during the recent session of the House, it is proposed to make one official the general administrator of the town's affairs. When the right man is obtained he will be the mayor and city council, police force, fire department, city clerk, treasurer, sanitary inspector, road superintendent, pound keeper, assessor, collector and a few other things rolled into one.

INDIAN MOSLEMS EXCITED

Developments in Connection With Balkan War Causing Much Anger and Uneasiness

BOMBAY, India, March 13.—The position of the Mohammedans of the Indian Empire toward the war in the East has been one of great difficulty from the first. Since it began to become more and more clear that the Ottomans were being practically driven out of Europe, the fanaticism of the race has developed into a sort of passionate devotion to the caliphate.

The action of the Young Turks in the recent revolution did much to rouse this feeling, even beyond the point it had reached, for it led them to believe that there was a possibility of victory if only the faithful would rally to the support of Islam.

The reports which have come through of failure of the Young Turks to accomplish anything has left Mohammedan India in a state of angry excitement, and it is at this moment that Aga Khan has come forward with a wise and temperate statement conceived with a view of steadying these passions and giving his fellow religionists a clearer idea of the political situation.

EXPLORATION OF SPHINX

Professor Reisner Makes Interesting Discoveries in Interior of Great Egyptian Monument

LONDON, March 13.—The exploration of the inside of the Sphinx has had interesting results.

Professor Reisner, succeeding in removing the accumulated sand of centuries from the interior of the head, gained entrance through the neck to the temple that runs the whole length of the gigantic body, measuring 120 feet. In the temple is a pyramid forming the tomb of Menes I, King of Egypt. It is supposed to contain his mummified body.

Sloping passages from the temple lead to other chambers yet unexplored, and also, it is believed, to a subterannean city.

TOWN SWEPT BY CYCLONE

Boy Killed and Fifteen People Injured in Louisiana Storm—Many Buildings Destroyed

ALEXANDRIA, La., Mar. 13.—The town of Provencal, La., fifty miles west of here, was practically wiped out by a cyclone which struck there this morning. A negro boy was killed and fifteen persons were injured. Two churches, a number of mercantile houses and twenty-five buildings were demolished. A report reached here late today that the town of Many, La., had also suffered from the storm, but owing to the interrupted wire communications no details were obtainable.

The storm swept everything before it in a path of five hundred yards wide. None of those injured are believed to be fatally hurt.

Late today the town of Many, La., is still without wire communication.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATE

Finance Minister Asks Votes to Cover Expenditure Incurred During Fiscal Year Just Closing

OTTAWA, March 13.—Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, this afternoon tabled supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year, which ends on March 31, to a total amount of $5,392,057.

This is for expenditures incurred during the present year, and most of the votes called for have been spent. Practically all the votes asked for are chargeable to revenue.

The estimates include an additional vote of $514,718 for the Militia department, including $300,000 more for the permanent force. The Customs department calls for $131,000, the Postoffice service $511,155 and Agricultural $213,190 more than provided for in the estimates voted last session. Practically all of the Postoffice department increase is to provide for payment of increases of salaries.

TROUT FISHING WILL BE OPEN TOMORROW

New Arrangement Is Made With Dominion Authorities Which Advances Season by Ten Days.

Good news for all who enjoy the pleasures of trout fishing in this Province is the announcement made yesterday by Hon. Mr. Bowser, as Provincial Commissioner of Fisheries, that an arrangement has been consummated with the Dominion department, and confirmed by telegram from Hon. Mr. Hazen, under which the season for trout fishing in all parts of this Province west of the 121st meridian will open tomorrow, March 15, instead of March 25.

The trout are reported to be this year exceptionally plentiful and in good condition, and the earlier bringing in of the open season will enable fishermen to employ the Easter holidays for their favorite sport. This was particularly had in view by Hon. Mr. Bowser in pressing upon Hon. Mr. Hazen the desirability of the change to which the Federal minister has courteously given his consent.

PRE-EMPTION REGULATIONS

No Certificates for Lands Which Contain a Large Amount of Commercial Timber

Mr. M. M. Gibson of the Provincial Government timber service has left on an official visit to Powell Lake and Malaspina Inlet, his mission being to inspect numerous tracts of land which figure in pre-emption applications now before the Department. It is now the rule that no lands showing more than eight thousand feet of timber to the acre may be pre-empted as agricultural land, and it is to investigate timber stands in this connection that Mr. Gibson has gone North. Timber Inspector George D. McKay is giving the public due notice that henceforward the provisions of the law in this regard will be very strictly enforced and a close examination made of pre-empted lands before certificates will be issued. In the past, it is alleged, quite a number of pre-emptors have by misrepresentation acquired land containing a large amount of commercial timber.

BAYLEY IN BOUT WITH AL DAVIES

Last night at a smoker given by the Shinglers' Union, Joe Bayley, a former shingler and lightweight champion boxer of Canada, met Al Davies, amateur bantamweight champion of the Pacific Coast, in a fast exhibition. Hartwick and Middleton, two J. B. A. A. wrestlers, put on a mat exhibition that was well worth seeing and besides there was interesting competitions in nail driving by the shinglers and lathers. Refreshments were served and the large crowd that attended passed a very pleasant evening.

GRAND TRUNK CHIEF IS VISITING CAPITAL

Mr. Morley Donaldson Will Interview the Government Today Concerning Mainland Construction.

Mr. Morley Donaldson, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is at present a visitor in the capital city of the Province, his object being to confer with the Provincial Government in regard to certain matters affecting the general development of the railway system in British Columbia, among which is the settlement of certain land areas on the Mainland. He proposes to remain here until the end of the week, and when he leaves Victoria he will travel north to Prince Rupert, and thence to Vancouver.

Mr. Donaldson while here gave out the information that, while his business with the Provincial Government would have a direct effect upon the G. T. P. in the Province, it was, especially at the present time, not having yet been the subject of a conference with the Premier, of a private nature.

"I don't mind saying, however, that it concerns the Land Department of the Government, and from that you may understand that my mission relates to mother earth, the particular portion in question being located on the Mainland."

Will Go North

The business of the vice-president on the Coast at this time is not to be entirely taken up with this problem, however, as he has mapped out a small itinerary for himself and Captain Nicholson, who acompanied him to the Capital yesterday. "Once my business is completed with the Government, I intend to go to Prince Rupert and look over accomplishments at that port. The G. T. P. has a gigantic task in hand in that city. For instance, we are building a beautiful hotel—and in that connection it is my intention to call upon Mr. F. M. Rattenbury, the architect for that structure, and discuss with him a number of details connected with the construction of the same. Then there is the terminal plan, involving the expenditure of a great amount of money in the laying out of railway yards, the erection of a depot suitable to the requirements of a port such as Prince Rupert will ultimately be, and in addition to these projections the construction of a huge dock. It will be my purpose to examine into the general scheme outlined by Mr. Bogue, the engineer, for the completed terminal facilities and see that the present developments are carried out along the lines suggested, should these prove the best in the circumstances.

Surprised at Growth

"From Prince Rupert I shall return to Vancouver, and it is possible that I may return to Victoria before I take my departure for headquarters. While in the city today I was greatly impressed with the wonderful advance that has been made since I was here last, only a matter of several months ago. Verily, this is a town of surprises. With Captain Nicholson I traveled round the city and took in the various scenes of rail and water development, and I must say that things are moving here in an astonishing fashion. I paid a visit to the Prince George and investigated her equipment, and tomorrow I intend to go over the Prince Albert, which, as you know, is having oil burners installed in her.

"I might also say, if it is of any interest here, that while it is impossible for me to say anything about the company's intentions to build a hotel in Victoria, we are at present deep in consideration of the plans for hotels in several of the cities on the main line. But we have the site here, and as I say, while nothing can be said about construction yet, we have not by any means lost sight of Victoria."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Motor Traffic

Sir,—As one of the great number of pedestrians I voiced my satisfaction at the passing of the Act providing for the greater protection of those using nature's provision for locomotion. I was also gratified to read this morning that Major Dupont was also pleased thereat, for the Major need not walk unless he so desires. Being compelled today to remain at the doorway of the Moody Block, corner Yates and Broad, for half an hour, I paid some attention to the manner in which autoists were observing the new law. They apparently do not read the newspapers, or they have no regard for the law. At 1:56 p.m., standard time, while passengers were embarking, auto license No. 2608, driven by one of the masculine gender, insisted on passing the car at the rate of six or seven miles per hour. At 2:05 p.m., auto license No. 1060, driven by one of the gentler sex, repeated the offence. As I do not wish to appear as a witness against either offender, I did not obtain confirmatory evidence. We have a sufficiently large police force, intelligently, numerically and physically, to see that the law is observed, and that offenders are punished. I simply draw attention to the fact that a certain number of autoists do not observe it. I sincerely believe that the very great number of auto drivers are considerate of pedestrians and do not wish at any time to hurt the latter very much. Still, many of them seem to delight, with their sirens and buzz-saw announcers, in an endeavor to shatter the nerves of pedestrians who are not inclined to make a sudden sprint at crossings on the approach of their particular hot-air machines. It may be a good idea to mail a copy of the new Act to all holders of auto licenses in the Province, and, this done, there can be no possible excuse for non-compliance with its provision.

W. H. ELLIS.

A Correction

Sir,—We beg to state that the following announcement, "Mr. A. M. McNeill is removing to Victoria from Chilliwack with his family, and will form a partnership with Mr. Law and engage in business here as a general building contractor," published in The Colonist of March 11, is an error.

Mr. Charles Law and Mr. William McNeill, are the sole proprietors of the firm of Law & McNeill, builders' merchants and teaming contractors, 624 Broughton Street, Victoria.

Yours truly,

LAW & McNEILL,

Recent Sale at Sotheby's of More Than Ordinary Interest—Beethoven Letter a Prize.

Washington ordered Andre to be hanged as a spy. The two met in the saleroom in London the other day by deputy, as at Sotheby's a letter by each appeared. The one by Washington was the curious note commenting on the mental derangement of George III., and was printed recently. The last bid for it was as much at £250 (Appleton), and the letter from his victim, written before his capture and showing a merry disposition in the arduousness of camp paigning, was appraised at the high sum of £111 (Sabin). The indenture signed by Queen Elizabeth completing the sale of the lordship of Denbigh to her by the Earl of Leicester fell at £80 (Appleton), and a letter from Sir Walter Raleigh to Sir John Gilbert, referring to the equipment of his 1592 expedition, and ordering "50 toones of zider" and "ten thousand of dry Newfoundland fish," brought £180 (Southwell).

A Royal sign manual of Edward VI., with the signatures added of his whole Council of Regency, three of whom were afterwards beheaded and one burnt at the stake, realized £250 (Barrett); and a series of thirty-four letters by Philip II. of Spain, husband of Queen Mary, £130 (Harper). Nineteen by John, Duke of Marlborough, relating to the war of the Spanish Succession, with others from Charles III. and Philip V. of Spain Prince Eugene, Addison and Sir Cloudesley Shovell, went in one batch for £200 (Southwell); and a few indentures relating to the family estate of Fielding the novelist, were valued at £300 (Barrett). A long letter by Rubens mentioning that the calumny arising from his visit to England had at last dissolved like mist in the sun made £120 and one from Edward IV. to Charles the Bold £100.

As usual, Mr. Sabin bought many interesting literary relics in a very long sale. General Wolfe's letters are very rare, and an order book in his hand, written when he had command in the Highlands after the '45 rebellion, and continued in 1759 when in America, caused this collector to pay £126. He also gave £101 for a second Washington letter on his domestic affairs, £65 for one William Penn on the administration of Pennsylvania, £43 for a letter from Veronese to a pupil, and £50 for an amusing note by Byron, in which Murray's shopman is implored not to miscall his famous poem the "Childe of Harrow's Pilgrimage." At the end of the day he acquired a jewel casket of cedar-wood, with portraits of Charles I. and Henrietta Maria, for £130.

A Beethoven letter dated September 23, 1810, only briefly catalogued was held to be a prize, and reached £51, and one from Schubert saying his own quartets are not worth much, £70. The original holograph of Mendelssohn's motet "Surrexit Pastor," made £[illegible] (Southwell). Eighteen letters addressed to Hepworth Dixon, the editor of the "Athenaeum," by Dickens or Bacon, in one of which he states, "I don't believe he was a bribed judge. I don't believe he was a false friend or an ungrateful man," brought £[illegible] and lastly, the original manuscript of Tennyson's "On a Spiteful Letter," realized £[illegible] (Shepherd).

CHINESE SALT GABELLE A PLEA FOR REFORM

Equalization of the Burden and the Suppression of Contraband Traffic Are Now Proposed by London Writer.

The financial coup delivered in the autumn of 1912 by the Chinese Government with the aid of a London house is not likely to be forgotten for a long time, says The London Standard. The prestige and credit of the Republican Government were enhanced thereby, so that China lost nothing by her resistance to the Six-Power syndicate. It was unfortunate, though, that so successful a strategic move should have been marred by reflections on the security for the loan. The salt gabelle, it was said, was already hypothecated; while in unofficial quarters the exact amount produced by the tax was disputed. As China is in the throes of reform, which is sometimes more serious than revolution, it is reasonable enough to question the amount the taxes do produce, especially in a country where obsolete methods of collection and corruption are prevalent. If doubts can be set at rest as to the amount actually raised by the salt tax, a point of considerable importance is settled. For if China is to be developed, still larger sums must be raised abroad for railways, etc., and the resources of her revenues are of great importance.

It will come as something of a surprise to those who seemed to treat the salt-tax as a figment, that the Chinese Government Salt Administration is founded upon laws and customs over a thousand years old. The impost on what is one of the prime necessities of life is, therefore, no novelty, likely to cause widespread resistance in its collection. In his pamphlet advocating a reform of the administration Mr. Chang Chien, High Commissioner of the Salt Administration of Liang Hwai, has an interesting description of the salt-tax as it now is, and in view of the prominent part Chinese financial affairs play this is worth examining. In the manufacture of salt in seven maritime provinces the commodity, we are told, is produced from sea-water; in two provinces from salt-wells; and in three others from salt-water lakes. Though divided into two parts, it is, nevertheless, a monopoly, Government monopoly and merchant monopoly, and the prevailing system is to map out the Provinces into definite consumption districts.

Smuggling as a Profession

Methods of tax-collection vary, and after twenty years' work Mr. Chang Chien confesses that he has been unable to find out all the conditions. With no definite system loss to revenue is inevitable; consequently there are no figures available of the total annual production of salt. Incomplete figures for the total annual consumption of taxed salt give 26,607,986 piculs for 1911; but the opinion is expressed that the consumption of untaxed salt equals that of the taxed article. Smuggling provides a living apparently to great numbers, even including inspectors employed to prevent the unlawful pursuit, so that we have immediately one reason for the wide discrepancies. Assuming that the consumption of contraband salt is enormous, the estimate of the total consumption at 52,000,000 piculs seems a reasonable figure.

The necessity for reform is manifest. The proposed reform is one that commends itself; its aims being system and uniformity; the maintenance of the same tax rate; equalization of the salt burden, and the suppression of contraband traffic by taxation at the source of production. Clearly any reorganization on these lines can only increase the productivity of the tax, and the present maximum revenue would be the minimum of any reformed scheme. There are various estimates of the resources of the salt administration, whose revenues are hypothecated for loan purposes. By some it is placed at no higher figure than forty million taels. Mr. Chang Chien estimates the revenue for 1910 as 48,224,969 taels, subsequently revised to forty-five million taels.

ALCOHOL HAS ITS EFFECT ON PLANTS

Series of Remarkable Experiments Show Vegetable Life Not Unlike That of Humans

CALCUTTA, March 13—The inner life of plants was laid bare here in the course of a series of remarkable experiments made by Professor J. C. Bose at the University in the presence of the Governor of Bengal, the judges of the High Court, and the members of the Bengal Council.

Professor Bose by means of a specially constructed apparatus showed the strange effects on plants of alcohol, which in some cases producer a sort of lethargy and in others a general unsteadiness of pulsation.

Several plants were made to record their rhythmic throbbings.

In the course of these, the pulse-beats of the plants were affected by the various drugs and stimuli in a manner precisely similar to that of the animal heart.

Perhaps the most weird experience was to watch the death-struggle of the plant under the action of poison. Turning from death to its antithesis, life and growth, one realized how the invisible has been rendered visible by means of the appliances invented by Professor Bose. The infinitesimal growth of a plant became so magnified in the experiment that it appeared rushing forward as if in a race.

The plant attached to the recording apparatus was automatically excited by a stimulus absolutely constant, and made its own responsive records, [illegible]

HON. GEORGE FOSTER SPEAKS OF MISSION

Question of Reciprocity Arrangements With Australia —Contribution to the Naval Defense of British Empire.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., March 13.—That Hon. George E. Foster's mission and chief object is to look around the Pacific Dominions, in which he himself and the Dominion of Canada are keenly interested, was that gentleman's declaration today on arrival at this port. He refused absolutely to discuss on what basis he was going to talk with the Australian Prime Minister on reciprocity between Canada and Australia.

Asked whether his proposed reciprocity would possibly effect Canada's trade with New Zealand, Mr. Foster replied that it would be hard to say. Canada, he said, at present enjoyed plenty of trade with New Zealand, and Australia's slight advantage in geographical position over New Zealand would not amount to much in the long ocean freight trade.

In answer to further questions the Canadian minister stated that it was utterly impossible for him to say what exact lines his reciprocity discussion with the Australian Government would take, or whether it would be similar to the New Zealand negotiations. Hitherto preliminaries with the Commonwealth had been discussed at such a long range that they were debarred from a discussion of the details.

Case of New Zealand

As far as this country was concerned its reciprocal arrangement with his country had been entirely satisfactory. It seemed to be equally divided, each Dominion sending and receiving about the same amount of products.

The railway journey from the Pacific slope of Canada somewhat hampered New Zealand's trade with Eastern Canada, although a fair quantity of the goods reached St. John and Montreal. He believed there would be a good opening for New Zealand and Australian trade with Canada if direct trade with the east was developed, the Australian end establishing a complete steamship service there.

Discussing naval defence of the British Empire, Hon. Mr. Foster declared that any difference in this regard in Canada was really more of party than of nation. It was only a question of a method of aiding the Mother Country.

The idea of a contribution of battleships was considered by the Government to be a speedier way of helping the Mother Land and the Empire. This also was only a preliminary part of the Government's programme and was looked on as an emergency contribution. It was not argued, he said, that the Government's future policy would not include what might be called direct Canadian co-operation in both men and ships.

If such a scheme was realized, then the three battleships that would be built would be available for inclusion in a permanent system when that system is devised.

AMUSEMENTS

Lhevinne No Exception—The life of every noted artist is replete with experiences of special interest, associations with other eminent men, honors received at the hands of royalty and government officials, and public triumphs. Josef Lhevinne, the distinguished Russian pianist, is no exception. He was educated at the Moscow Royal Conservatory, where his remarkable gifts won him early the close friendship of two no less famous men than Rubenstein and Tschaikowski. Many of the secrets of Lhevinne's magic skill he learned from the great Rubenstein himself, of whom he was a protege. Rubenstein often had Lhevinne visit him as his guest, an honor accorded few other artists. The extraordinary brilliancy, fire and dash of Rubenstein's style, which moved his audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, is also characteristic of Lhevinne's playing. He has the Rubenstein spirit, the Rubenstein Russian qualities, which fascinate all music lovers. "While there was but one Rubenstein," writes the critic of The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin, "there is today but one Lhevinne." The appearance of this distinguished artist here on Wednesday at the Victoria Theatre will be one of the most important events of the season.

Empress Theatre — No one of the thousands of patrons of the Empress Theatre could ask for a better bill than is being given in the house "where everybody goes," this week. It is well balanced, and each of the five acts is the very best of its class that is to be had. A pretty playlet of the home side of mining life, with a gripping story in it, is "A Christmas on the Comstock," in which Miss Monda Glandower and Raymond Mannion are appearing. Both are members of the theatrical profession who have made a name for themselves in the legitimate before entering vaudeville. Welch, Mealy and Montrose "play ball" to the thorough satisfaction of their audiences, whose sides ache before the portly Welch and his partners, who are good eccentrics, are five minutes on the stage. Miss Jeannie Fletcher sings a number of classical and semi-classical songs in a finished fashion. She has a sweet and well-trained voice and a fine appearance. Dow and Dow have a comedy turn in the guise of sailors, with a quality all their own. They are receiving many recalls. In Sickers' Bi Jouve Monkey-lovers on this side of the Atlantic are being treated to one of the most amazing acts that has yet been brought from the Old Country. They [illegible] at the Empress Theatre for [illegible] and [illegible] on their first [illegible] this week.

well received. Hall and O'Brien have a comedy singing, talking and dancing act. They sing well, have many witty sayings and went big on yesterday's bill. There is a complete change of pictures for today. "The Twilight of Her Life" is a Lubin drama; "Snake and Frogs," a good educational film; "Hickson Coal," a Kalem drama; "The Revenge Girl and the Man," a Biograph drama; "Getting Even," a comedy. This is considered a good week-end programme. Take advantage of the matinees and get good seats away from the rush at night.

Majestic Theatre—"The Belle of North Wales," a romantic picture taken in and around Bettws-y-Coed, a village of Wales, and played by an English company. The backgrounds are, of course, new and acceptable. The story is somewhat melodramatic. "Don't Let Mother Know," a gripping drama that points out the bliss of ignorance. A wayward lad's staunch friend makes a noble sacrifice in order to bless the declining years of an aged mother. "St. Joseph Taper," tells a story in which St. Joseph Taper helps a powerless girl to find a good husband. "She Shall Not Know," a drama of heart-interest. "An Up-To-Date Lochinvar," a freshly conceived little incident, and played in a sprightly way; it makes good entertainment. On the same bill for today is "The Warwich Chronicle" with its animated news items, and a biograph comedy entitled "There Were Hoboes Three." To be sure a set of pictures making a very good programme.

ONE SUBJECT AT A TIME

Chicago Lawyer and Former Teacher Discusses Teaching of School Children

Mr. Harry W. Sisson, a Chicago lawyer and a former school teacher, has attacked the whole fabric of public school teaching in an open letter which he has sent to the superintendent of schools, and has divided the city into hostile camps on education matters. Mr. Sisson, in a crescendo of emotion, asks a large number of questions, and declares that the teaching plan is all wrong and modern pupils are failures. Three of the questions asked are:

"Why is it that children who study spelling for several years cannot spell?

"Why is it that the commercial courses fail to yield the results given by six weeks in a business college?

"Why is it that boys who have spent years on arithmetic find it impossible to hold jobs requiring a knowledge of only elementary figures and thus are forced to drift into the 'blind alleys' of employment?"

Mr. Sisson has made a study of public schools in Chicago, and answers the three questions. The first is that children in Chicago cannot spell because the curriculum is overcrowded. The second answer is that pupils are crammed beyond their brain capacity; and the third that owing to the previous two the pupils have "mental indigestion." A suggestion is put forward that as the best colt trainers in America teach their animals but one thing at a time—to walk, trot, or run—so the children should be taught only one subject at a time. The result is that the education authorities are now dealing with a crowd of parents who advocate Mr. Sisson's view, and believe that they have discovered the reason of their children's failures at school.

An experiment will probably be made soon on the lines suggested, but only a few pupils will be selected for the purpose, and a careful note of their progress is to be recorded every week for six months. If at the end of that time the experiment has proved successful, the whole educational curriculum of Chicago may be altered.

The late W. W. Baer, formerly of Nelson, who died recently while visiting Toronto, left a fortune, estimated at $104,924.89, and no will.

BONUS TO TAKE PLACE OF WAGES

Viscount Hythe Publishes Special Article Which Evolves Scheme for Miners in English Collieries.

LONDON, March 13.—Viscount Hythe publishes a special article explaining a bonus scheme for miners, an alternative to wages based on profits.

As a grandson of Mr. Thomas Brassey, the founder of the famous firm of contractors, he takes a keen interest in the Powell Duffryn Colliery Company, in which the family have held large interests, and it is no secret that he has for the past two or three years been trying to get the management to adopt the scheme which he now puts forward in print.

Lord Hythe has tried his plan with the most happy results in the sulphur mines in Sardinia, which he controls.

The scheme is based on the principle that capital has a right to its wages just as the workman has a right to his, and that when the wages of both have been paid the worker has the right to share in the profits.

The principal provisions, which would be applicable to South Wales, are as follows:

1. The workman cannot draw any part of the sum standing to his credit till after he leaves the company's service. This is absolutely vital.

2. The workman is furnished with a booklet, in which is set down every year the rate and amount of the bonus, the sum standing to his credit, and the interest upon it for the preceding year.

6. Only men who have been five years in the service of the company are entitled to participate. The qualifying period has been recently reduced to four years, and we may presently reduce it to three years' service. Lower than this I do not propose to go.

7. The company preserves the right to modify the regulations governing the fund.

The wages of capital have been fixed at five per cent., which is very low for such a risky business as mining.

The workman who fulfils the above conditions is credited with a percentage on his wages equivalent to any dividend above five per cent distributed to the shareholders.

The main advantages of a scheme on these lines are:

(1) The capitalist makes no sacrifice, until he has received a reasonable rate of interest on his capital.

2. The worker takes no sacrifice, and he accepts no conditions; and there is, therefore, no ground for any discussion with the trade union on the matter.

A further important point in the scheme is that the bonus is not distributed annually. A bonus distributed year by year should be tantamount to an increase in wages to the workmen in the more profitable collieries, and could not be applied in the South Wales coalfield without producing serious discontent among the workmen in the less profitable collieries.

The workman must have a living wage wherever he is working, and the present system of regulating wages cannot well be abandoned. A bonus scheme which accumulated capital for the worker by a definite share of profits would not be open to this objection.

Wonderful Invention in Telegraphy Is Now Announced by the Commercial Cable Company

In the annual statement of the Commercial Cable Company reference is made to an invention in connection with submarine cables which marks a great advance in long-distance telegraphy.

Mr. John Gott, who has been the chief engineer of the Commercial Cable Company since its organization in 1884, has invented a device by which the Morse dot and dash signals can be used on long submarine cables; that is to say, messages can be sent by the ordinary land line Morse key and read on a Morse sounder. This invention surpasses in importance anything that has been added to the submarine cables since Sir William Thomson (Lord Kelvin) and Cromwell Varley first made the practical operation of long submarine cables possible 55 years ago.

It is expected that Mr. Gott's invention will make the cable service as flexible as the land service. It links up cables or land lines, or both, or alternate cable and land lines, and is an achievement which inventors and the foremost scientists in the world in cable working have striven to attain ever since the first Atlantic cable was laid. The first transatlantic cable was destroyed by forcing a powerful electric current through it in the attempt to employ the Morse alphabet of dots and dashes. Ever since that time continuous but always unsuccessful attempts have been made to discover some method of using the Morse system of dot and dash signals.

The far-reaching effect of this invention on all kinds of telegraph transmission both by land and sea cannot at this time be definitely stated, but the Commercial Cable Company believes that by this invention it will be possible to transmit, through automatic repeaters, telegraph signals around the world.

KARLUK BOUND FOR ESQUIMALT

Steam Whaler in Which Dr. Stefansson Will Make His Exploration Trip Leaves San Francisco for This Port.

ARRIVAL LOOKED FOR ON SATURDAY

Vessel Will Outfit Here Before Sailing on Long Voyage to Arctic Regions—Party to Be Away Three Years.

With Victoria as her initial destination, the steam whaler Karluk, in which Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the discoverer of the blonde Eskimos, is to revisit the Arctic regions on a voyage of exploration, has left San Francisco. The staunch craft cleared the Golden Gate on Wednesday, under the command of Captain C. T. Pedersen, and, providing good weather is experienced, she is looked for here on Saturday. Upon her arrival in Victoria, the Karluk will be ordered to proceed to Esquimalt, where she will be thoroughly overhauled and fitted out for the voyage of discovery that is expected to result in further additions to British territory on the map of the North American continent.

For some time the Karluk has been lying on the mudflats near Oakland. When Stefansson decided to attempt further discoveries, agents from the Canadian Government purchased the vessel for $15,000.

Well Adapted for Arctic

The steam whaler is of 350 tons burden, and is specially adapted and equipped for Arctic service. Explorer Stefansson plans to be away three years, and his reports will be of great benefit to Canadian scientific and geographical institutions. When Stefansson visited the blonde Eskimos at Coronation Gulf, Prince Albert Land, last year, he learned of another race of men living farther to the north in a region never before penetrated by white men.

Stefansson hopes to discover this new race and the land which they occupy. The land discovered will be claimed by the Canadian Government. The Karluk will fly the British flag and carry a crew of fourteen men. Stefansson expects to reach his goal in September and anticipates to return to civilization by the month of September, 1916.

Ten Scientists Aboard

On board will be Dr. R. M. Anderson, at the head of a party of ten scientists. Dr. Stefansson, who is at present aboard, has completed arrangements to join the expedition at Esquimalt, with a wireless outfit and motion picture equipment. Under the terms of the Canadian subvention, the crew and navigating officers of the Karluk must be Canadians, but Captain Pedersen, who is an American subject, hopes that agreement may be arrived at by which he will not be required to forfeit allegience to his country.

While in the Arctic circle the expedition will probably touch at Banks Land, but more particularly is pointed for the unknown stretches of Prince Patrick Land and Prince Albert Land. Hopes are entertained that the exploration party may find relics of the lost McClure expedition of 1851-1853, and the abandoned barque Investigator. It is expected that several weeks will elapse before the Karluk is fully equipped to allow her to leave on her long voyage of exploration to the unknown North.

Vancouver Agent of Harrison Line Confirms Report That Additional Steamers Are Building for Pacific Run.

Confirming the report that appeared in these columns yesterday to the effect that eight steamships of large tonnage were building in British shipbuilding yards for the Harrison Direct service to Victoria, news of which was brought by the steamer Crown of Seville, Mr. A. A. Black, of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., agents for the Harrison Line at Vancouver, who came over to Victoria to meet the new freighter, stated last night that it is quite true that the company he represented was planning for the extension of their steamship service between Liverpool and Victoria and intimated that several of the freighters now under construction would be operated on this route immediately the Panama Canal was thrown open to steamer traffic. Mr. Black stated that he understood that contracts for two of the new steamers had been let to Charles Connell & Co., of Glasgow, and another vessel had been awarded to the Port Glasgow shipbuilding firm of Russell & Co. As far as he could say the remaining five had been distributed among English shipbuilders.

According to Mr. Black, the plans of the Harrison Company will be to inaugurate a service leaving Liverpool every twenty-one days and, providing the venture is successful, it is altogether likely that a semi-monthly service will be arranged, giving one of the best freight services ever operated to north Pacific coast ports.

The Crown of Seville, after discharging several hundred tons of cargo at the local ocean docks, cleared about midnight for Vancouver. When she has completed unloading 5,000 tons at the Terminal City, the big freighter will proceed direct to Portland to load lumber for Manila.

ROYAL MAIL SAILINGS TO PACIFIC COAST

Movements of New Company's Steamers Fixed Up to October—Agents Announced

Messrs. Frank Waterhouse & Co., Inc., agents for the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, announce the following sailings from Europe for this Coast:

S. S. "Falls of Orchy," March 14; "Monmouthshire," May 9; "Den of Ruthven," June 6; "Glenlogan," July 4; "Den of Crombie," August 1; "Den of Glamis," August 29; "Steamer," September 26; "Glenstrae," October 24.

The "Falls of Orchy" is due to arrive in Victoria on June 12 and the "Monmouthshire" on August 12.

The above named steamers will be dispatched from Victoria to Europe in the order shown, via Yokohama, Kobe, Moji, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manila, Singapore, Suez, Port Said, London, Antwerp and Rotterdam, from which it will be noted a regular monthly service from September 1—of first-class steamers owned by one of the largest water transportation companies in the world is being offered.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company will be represented in this service by The English Coaling Co., Ltd., at Port Said and Suez; Messrs. Skrine & Co., at Colombo; Messrs. Boustead & Co., at Penang and Singapore; Boustead, Hampshire & Co., at Port Swettenham; Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., at Hongkong and Shanghai; Gale & [illegible]

N.Y.K. STEAMSHIP LINE PURCHASES VESSELS

Others Are Under Construction for Operation on the Various Routes of the Company

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha has purchased in Europe three new steamers of about 6,000 tons each, which they contemplate employing in their India services. Five steamers of over 10,000 tons each are now under construction for this company in Japan. They will be placed on the European service, replacing the 6,000-ton steamers running at present.

As to the increase of the services of the N. Y. K., mention may be made of the fortnightly service between Yokohama and Calcutta, which was opened with six steamers sometime ago. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha is looking forward with much interest to the opening of the Panama Canal, but there being nothing definite decided about the extension of their Pacific service, no information is at this time available concerning their plans in this connection.

PRINCESS ROYAL FOR GRANBY BAY

C. P. R. Coastal Steamer Will Reenter Service on Tuesday After Several Months' Layup—Mary on Single Voyage.

As was the case during the early part of last year, the steamer Princess Royal, of the C.P.R. coastal fleet, will this season maintain the regular service to Granby Bay, Prince Rupert and way ports. The schedule of the Princess Royal has just been issued by the company and calls for the vessel to leave Victoria next Tuesday and Vancouver the following day. At present the Royal is at Esquimalt having her hull cleaned and painted, and the work will be completed by the end of the present week.

On the northbound trip the Princess Royal will call at Alert Bay, Campbell River, Swanson Bay, Butedale, Prince Rupert, Balmoral, Port Simpson and Granby Bay. Southbound she will put in at Port Nelson, Arrandale, Wales Island, Prince Rupert, Butedale, Swanson Bay, Alert Bay and Campbell River. It is understood that the steamer Princess Mary, which is making one trip on this run, will later be placed on the Ocean Falls route. After overhauling the Princess Beatrice probably will relieve the Queen City on the Rivers Inlet and logging camp route.

The Princess Royal will sail north from Vancouver every Wednesday. The Princess Alice is now practically ready to re-enter the service, and early next week will relieve the steamer Princess Sophia on the Vancouver run.

NO MATERIAL CHANGE IN FREIGHT RATES

Latest Fixtures by Messrs. Hind, Rolph & Company of San Francisco

The special monthly freight report prepared by Messrs. Hind, Rolph & Co., of San Francisco is published herewith:

During the past month there have been no material changes in freight rates from this coast. The markets have not shown any great activity, but, at the same time, any business done has been quite up to past figures.

Perhaps the most interesting feature has been the strong efforts being made by the railroads to charter tonnage for cotton to the Orient, and although they have tried out the market very thoroughly, in all directions, their efforts have not met with much success. It might also be mentioned with regard to the fixture of the S. S. "Algoa," of which details are given below, that although the rate seems low, in reality it is fully equal to the rates paid to other tonnage.

The most interesting fixtures to report are as follows:

Steamers

"Harpagus"—Time charter, delivery and redelivery, Puget Sound for a round trip to the Orient, 6s. 9d.

"Ikalis"—Time charter, delivery San Francisco, redelivery, Japan, 10s.

"Algoa"—Time charter, delivery San Francisco, redelivery Sidney or Newcastle, 6s. 9d.

"Hawkhead"—Time charter, delivery San Francisco, redelivery Sydney or Newcastle, 8s.

Sailers

"Bay of Biscay"—Lumber direct, port U. K., 83s. 9d.

"Reinbek"—Lumber direct, port U. K., 81s. 3d., option two ports, 83s. 9d.

"General de Negrier"—Lumber direct, Nitrate port, 61s. 3d.

"W. H. Talbot"—Lumber, New Zealand, 65s., option West Coast, 65s.

"Geneva"—Lumber New Zealand, 67s. 6d., option Sydney or Newcastle, 65s.

"Olona"—Portland, U. K. Cont., 33s. 9d, wheat, 35s., barley.

ATLANTIC RATE WAR EXPECTED

North Atlantic Steamship Interests Decide to Place Competitive Service on Trieste Route—Low C.P.R. Rates.

In connection with the Canadian-Pacific steamship service between Montreal and Trieste, which has been arranged by agreement with the Austrian Government, the steamship interests comprising the North Atlantic Steamship Conference, at a recent meeting in Berlin, Germany, decided to oppose the scheme, and to place a competitive service on the route.

According to London dispatches, the reasoning of the C. P. R. is to the effect that if the rates are high, the company makes a substantial profit on the business, and if, on the other hand, they are low, Canada gets a large supply of cheap labor, which is induced to cross the Atlantic by reason of the cheap fares, and as the C. P. R. is the largest employer of labor in Canada, and has about 1000 miles of railway to build during the current year, it will gain with the left hand, at the expense of its competitors, what it may lose with the right on its own vessels.

It is therefore contended that if a rate cutting policy is inaugurated, and its competitors carry passengers at a loss, they will be merely putting money into the C. P. R. treasury. It has been officially stated that the C. P. R. has been permitted to carry on its business in Austria since 1908, and as an outcome, laid its plans before the Government there, which came to the conclusion that an opportunity was afforded for a considerable development at Trieste. In the arrangement of the transatlantic passenger trade, it was stated that only a small share, about 4 per cent, was accorded to Trieste, and it was decided to take steps to secure a larger share of the traffic. It is stated that the Austro-Americana line has decided to commence a service between Trieste, Patras and other Mediterranean ports and Canada, in March, the first vessel calling at Portland, Me., and later ones at Quebec and Montreal, and that it has fixed a rate of $29.50 per passenger. Mr. G. McL. Brown, European manager of the C. P. R., who attended the conference at Berlin, is reported to have stated that the conference demanded that the C. P. R. surrender its contract with the Austrian Government and pay a default, but offered no recompense of any nature. Messrs. F. Gnanzmann & Co., Trieste, and S. Altman, Vienna, are reported to have been appointed agents for the service. The steamers that are to be operated in the Trieste service are the former Liverpool-Montreal steamers Lake Champlain and Lake Erie. As previously reported in these columns, they are to be renamed respectively the Ruthenia and Tyrolia.

The Ruthenia is scheduled to sail from Trieste March 20 and she will be followed by the Tyrolia four weeks later.

QUEUE CUTTING CRUSADE RENEWED

Liner Inaba Maru Brought Word That Many Chinamen Were Being Relieved of Headgear at Shanghai.

News was brought by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Inaba Maru, which reached port Wednesday afternoon from Hongkong, Shanghai and Yokohama, that the crusade against the queue has been renewed in China. While the Inaba Maru was at Shanghai it was decided that the city volunteers should patrol the outside districts with the object of preventing crime which is usually prevalent with the approach of the Chinese New Year, and it is stated that this activity has found an outlet different from the purpose for which it was originally designed. At any rate reports were received at Shanghai that the volunteers were armed with scissors, and all and sundry found wearing the obnoxious queue were immediately deprived of the same. The reason given for this recurrence of queue-cutting was that recently many refugees from the north of China had arrived in Shanghai and vicinity, and true to their northern proclivities they still retained the queue.

Temperance in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, March 13.—The temperance movement is making strides in Sweden. Both houses of the Riksdag passed the bill forbidding the sale of wine, beer or liquors at the Riksdag restaurant after January, 1914. In spite of the fact that the majority of the Riksdag has not yet declared in favor of prohibition, this decision is considered significant of the great progress of the temperance movement and the forecast of the introduction of full prohibition in the near future. The Crown Prince and Princess are temperance advocates.

UNEASY FEELING IN IRELAND IS ALLAYED

Earl Roberts Declares Lessons of War With Boers Have Been Forgotten—Trust the Amateur Soldiers.

DUBLIN, March 13.—The annual meeting of the Irish branch of the National Service League was held here a few days ago with Colonel H. Gore Lindsay in the chair. Earl Roberts, in a letter expressing regret that he was unable to be present wrote:

"At the close of the Boer War the nation was stirred by an uneasy feeling that all was not well with a military system that, in a struggle with a small people, strained its resources to the utmost, and forced it to send to the front men whose training had to be given on the field. Hence the National Service movement was started.

"Since then the uneasy feeling has to a certain extent been allayed, and the lessons of the war have been forgotten. But the leaven has, nevertheless, been working, and, owing to the efforts of the National Service League, the principle of universal military training for home defence has been gradually making way. Now the work has received a great impetus from events in the Near East, where the downfall of the Turkish Empire in Europe, owing to its own want of military preparedness and to the military efficiency of its opponents, has made even the most careless give some thought to our own military position. No one can say, I think, that it is a satisfactory one.

For Defence of Shores

"We are still, as we were more than ten years ago, trusting to the efficiency of amateur soldiers for the defence of our shores, and after a fair trial it may safely be said that the voluntary system has absolutely broken down. The question of naval defence has been, I am glad to say, removed from the arena of party politics, and we of the National Service League ask that in like manner the question of home defence and our military system generally should be looked upon as beyond party strife. We say that nothing short of universal military training will meet the position, and we say that the country now has this choice before it—will it accept in time of peace a system of military training for its young men that will render the country immune from all fear of invasion, that will take from the patriotic few the burden that should be borne by all, that will increase the moral, physical, and industrial stature of the people, or will it declare the burden too heavy, and the preservation of the rich inheritance bequeathed by its forefathers a thing not worth the sacrifice of a little ease? Will it allow itself to fall, as Turkey has done, before the attack of a more virile, a more patriotic people, and to become a thing of nought in the councils of the nations, or will it take such measures, in time of peace as will enable it to resist invasion and keep its place as one of the Great Powers of the world?

"These are the alternatives that the National Service League wishes to put before the people, and I ask all present to give them their most earnest, their most serious consideration, and, whatever side of political opinion they may hold, to join with us in urging upon the authorities, whoever they may be, the necessity for putting our military affairs in order before it is too late."

To Set Aside Feeling

On motion of Captain Poe the following resolution was passed:

"That, as the voluntary system has failed to produce an army for home defence, efficient in point of numbers and of training, the leaders of our political parties be asked without further dangerous delay to set aside all party feeling and seriously consider the urgent necessity for introducing universal military training for home defence."

In a speech at Warrington Saturday night, Mr. Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said the Government were going on with Home Rule. Although the bill had sustained a rebuff in the House of Lords, the Government, fortunately, had made an arrangement beforehand which would enable the measure in a few months to be sent up again and again, only what happened to it the third time would not matter.

They could no longer govern Ireland except by conceding to her the great gift of self-government. If the present Government did not solve the Home Rule question their opponents would try to do it, because no Parliament ever likely again to assemble at Westminster would authorise any Government to suppress the passionate desire of the Irish people to govern their own affairs. He listened to the speeches in the House of Lords, and in the perorations it was clear to him that the idea of Home Rule had at last dawned upon their minds. They knew they had got to deal with it.

There was still a possibility of a settlement of this question with the House of Lords. There would be every opportunity in a month or two for the members of that House to reconsider their judgment, which was somewhat hastily arrived at. He hoped they would approach the question the second time in a spirit of statesmanlike consideration, and would ask themselves what would be the consequence of not recognizing the demands of the Irish people.

Excellent progress is being made with the erection of the new public school buildings at Vernon, toward which the local Government has made a further contribution of $12,000.

The Kootenay River is to be bridged during the present season at Bull River.

AVIATRESS HAS A WONDERFUL RECORD

Decoration Conferred Upon Mlle. Helene Dutrieu Does Not Come With Surprise to Her Acquaintances.

PARIS, March 13.—The decoration conferred on Mlle. Helene Dutrieu, the first aviatress to whom the ribbon of the Legion of Honor has been awarded, could come as a surprise only to those who did not know of her wonderful record in aviation. Of all the women who took to flying, she is the only one who has kept pace with the leading aviators, and has in many instances surpassed them in her achievements. Her first flight was on a "Demoiselle" of M. Santos-Dumont. Then she practiced for a while on a Sommer biplane at Bonzy, in the Ardennes, and the next that was heard of her she was making sensational records at Odessa, where, unfortunately, she had a very serious accident, which nearly cost her her life.

Having recovered, Mlle. Dutrieu returned to France, and made a number of flights on a Farman biplane. Her best performance, in 1910, was held on the very last day of the year, Dec. 31, when she won the Coupe Femina. It was also a test as to who could support the biting cold longer—Mlle. Dutrieu, who flew for three long hours, or the timekeepers who, with their usual male vanity, had imagined that it would all be over in five minutes.

Mlle. Dutrieu afterwards made daring flights in Spain, Italy, Belgium, and Holland. She won the cup for speed given by the King of Italy, and in America she won prizes for duration and for altitude records. Last December she won, for the second time, the Femina Cup, by a flight of 150 miles.

TO BEGIN CAMPAIGN AFTER EASTER RECESS

David Lloyd George Announces His Intentions, But No Definite Date Is Yet Set

LONDON, March 13.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, will not begin his land campaign until after the Easter recess. It is likely that, according to present arrangements, a start will be made with a big demonstration in the Bingley Hall, Birmingham, and that Mr. Lloyd George will follow this up with visits to all the more important cities and towns in the United Kingdom. Glasgow is on the list, but at this juncture it is not possible to mention any date for the visit.

It Won't Occupy More Than Five Minutes of Your Time and It Will Put You in the Way of Knowing the Facts About Cadboro Bay District, the Finest Residential District of Victoria

Yes, read the points enumerated below; think them over, and then either get into touch with us in order that we may show you the property or, if you require more information, fill in the attached coupon blank and send it to us today. Neither the one course nor the other will obligate you in the slightest degree. If you finally decide NOT to buy you need feel no sense of obligation to us in any way. We want you only to GET THE FACTS and then decide for yourself. This will probably be the last announcement we shall make concerning this Cadboro Bay property as the inquiry evoked has been very brisk.

READ THESE POINTS

The property we are offering is the highest class of waterfront residential property at ordinary prices and on easy terms.

It contains practically no rock. The soil is deep and rich, many of the lots having been under cultivation, with heavy-bearing fruit trees planted on them and luscious small fruits.

Every lot commands an unsurpassed view that is permanent. Most of the lots look away across the island-dotted Straits to the majestic Olympics, with the stately waterfront homes of "Uplands", in plain view across the Bay.

This property is well situated, just beyond the new, popular Cadboro Bay Hotel. The Golf Links are fifteen minutes' easy drive distant. The street cars serving "Uplands" are ten minutes' walk from the property.

The proposed extension of the "Uplands" car line, which is expected very shortly, will give this property an absolutely adequate service.

Every lot is very generous in size. The waterfront contains numerous unexpected and picturesque indents ideal for lovely homes.

Every additional improvement to "Uplands," every new house built there, will benefit this property. The wealthy "Uplands" residents will naturally work for the good of their home locality.

This district will soon be rated as the best residential district in Canada.

Property of this class will never be available again at such prices. It is becoming more rare daily.

Property such as this will always continue to enhance in value. As an investment pure and simple it has no equal on the market.

KAISER CALLED A PEACE MAINTAINER

T. P. O'Connor Presents Two Views of German Emperor and Deals With His Original Methods of Administration.

There are two views of the German Emperor, according to T. P. O'Connor, who has written his impressions of the German Emperor for an American newspaper. To some his ambitions appear threatening; to others he is the maintainer of European peace. But his originality is clear to all. To his Majesty's versatility of interests may be attributed his peculiarly original methods of discharging his administrative duties as a monarch, he says.

It is these diverse interests that have made him a dreamer of vast dreams, which are likely to remain unfulfilled, the possessor of an extraordinarily impressionable mind, the easy prey of the sycophant, a believer in the absolute and divine right of kings. With a few possible exceptions, the Kaiser is surrounded by sycophantic satellites, whose chief aim is to curry favor by greeting with adulation each fresh move that their monarch makes. In spite of his autocratic tendencies, these satellites dominate him.

Yet withal no man lives more in the limelight of publicity than does the versatile and volatile Kaiser. Scarcely a day passes without his sayings or doings

Attracting Attention of Whole World

He seems to delight in making himself the theme of discussion in all the capitals of Europe, and, indeed, this love of notoriety has been one of his chief characteristics since his dismissal of Bismarck in 1890.

The contretemps occurred through a private interview which Bismarck had with a certain politician. When news of it came to the ears of the incensed Emperor he informed his chancellor that, as he was monarch, he insisted upon knowing with whom Bismarck intended to discuss political affairs.

"Tell His Majesty," said the irate Bismarck to the Kaiser's messenger, "that I cannot permit anyone to decide who is to cross my own threshold." The next morning there occurred the historic knocking on the door, which, upon being opened, revealed the Emperor in person standing on the threshold. The interview which took place turned the whole course of German history.

The Chancellor was firm and dignified, maintaining that he would not be dictated to as to whom he invited to his house. "Not even by your Sovereign?" sternly demanded the Kaiser. "The commands of my Sovereign end at the drawing-room of my wife!" was Bismarck's response. That ended the famous regime.

Some time ago the Emperor was on his way by train to Potsdam with a few intimate friends. In the royal saloon stood an impassive male servant in livery awaiting the orders of the monarch. The Kaiser was in a lively mood and the conversation became very animated and distinctly confidential. Suddenly the Kaiser interrupted the conversation and summoned his secretary. Then, pointing to the servant, he demanded, "What is that man doing here?" The unhappy servant was questioned and finally was obliged to confess that he was a reporter.

The Pushful Reporter

The Kaiser began to twirl his moustache, a sign of coming storm. Then he recovered himself and, smiling somewhat grimly, ordered the train to be stopped. This was done and the luckless newspaperman was invited to step out of the train. He hastened to do so, and was deposited on the railway track ten good miles from the nearest station. And the Kaiser spent the next five minutes laughing.

The Kaiser's penchant for good music is well known. He was once annoyed because the band was playing some favorite music too slow. He seized the conductor's baton and made the musicians play it considerably faster. Then he returned to his suite. When the French actor, Coquelin, who was present, phrased the proper compliment, the Kaiser replied, "Everyone must be able to do for himself what he consideres to be necessary."

The Emperor once designed a pack of playing cards in which the Queen of Hearts is represented by a portrait of the late Queen Victoria, the Queen of Diamonds by the Dowager Queen Marguerhita of Italy, the Queen of Clubs by the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria, and the Queen of Spades by the Czarina. The late Pope figures as the King of Spades, the late King Humbert of Italy as the King of Clubs, Leopold of Belgium as the King of Diamonds, and the Kaiser himself as the King of Hearts. Bismarck, Gladstone, Crispi and M. Waldeck-Rousseau are the four knaves, while four of the prettiest actresses in Europe—their names are not divulged—represent the four aces.

The Emperor's devotion to the Empress reminds one of the romantic character of their first meeting. The Grand Duke Frederick, her father, had invited Prince William, as he then was, to Prinkenau for a few days' shooting. The visitor was then as fond as he is now of surprises, consequently he arrived on foot, and sooner than he expected. Losing his way in the park he came upon a summer-house in which a young girl was dozing in a hammock.

Pausing to look at her a moment the Prince passed on, running over in his mind, as he said afterward, a little poem called "The Briar Rose." Later in the day at the castle he met the young lady again unattended. "Here is my Briar Rose again," said he, and introduced himself, and then and there fell straightway in love. He was only twenty, but he was fully determined to have his own way, and the couple became engaged on February 14, 1880, the public announcement being made in Berlin four months later.

Calling one day just before luncheon time at the house of the Prince of Pless, the Kaiser was placed at the head of the table. This, however, was not at all to his Majesty's liking, for he soon changed his seat to one between the Princess of Pless and the Duchess of Ratidor, saying, "Pless, take the place that you occupy ordinarily. I willingly renounce my prerogative for the pleasure of sitting between two beautiful women."

An American journalist once summarized the Emperor in the following way: "He is a man who can write a song and sing it, or play the music of it. He is a yachtsman and an equestrian. He can talk rapidly in five modern languages. He can paint pictures and he can criticize them. He understands engineering and electricity. He is is a theologian, and has composed prayers. He can command a ship, or a fleet, a regiment, or an army. He can discourse on the art of cookery and possesses a literary taste."

GERMANY CLOSELY OBSERVES DRUG HABIT

Extraordinary Case Arises After Trial of Defendant Lasting Several Days in Court at Halle.

BERLIN, March 13.—While so much has been written lately in the British and French press about the drug habit and the evils that ensue, Germany has just been giving the closest attention to an extraordinary case of train robberies in which the accused figured as a remarkable example of the victim of drugs.

The man, Dreyer, a civil engineer by profession, has just been sentenced to three years' imprisonment for robberies committed in expresses in Germany after a trial lasting several days before the criminal court at Halle. At first the case attracted unusual attention, owing to the identity of the prisoner. He was the son of wealthy parents, and up to the day of his arrest few had any inkling that he was not a respectable and prosperous engineer. He led an existence that might be said to be the twentieth century counterpart of that of Deacon Brodie. Even his wife was left with suspicion rather than knowledge, and the neighbors in Berlin, where he lived with his wife and children, quite believed him to be a pattern husband and father.

Features Are Obscured

The feature of the case, however, was soon obscured, as the interrogation by the judge led the prisoner to explain how he had become a victim of the drug habit. For more than nine years he had been addicted to opium. Asked how he came by the drug, he answered:

"While traveling, I showed a doctor's prescription, or, later, I gave a false signature myself. I always changed my ostensible address, and in this way I often bought the drug several times a day, using every chemist's shop I came across. Although I asked for the drug several thousand times, I was refused only three times. I had to take it at first because of stomach complaints, but I found I had to take more and more in order to escape the feeling of depression, and finally I drank direct out of the bottle. As it was cheaper to get it in large quantities, I often bought several bottles, and once I was sold 44 bottles, each of 40 grammes. In one year alone I spent $375 on opium.

Wife Couldn't Understand

The evidence of Dreyer's wife showed that she had not understood the change in her husband's manner until a doctor notified her that it was due to abuse of opium. He had been a nervous subject as a child, but later was for some time quite successful in business. Then he ill-treated her and the children. Her first suspicions of dishonesty came when she discovered that he had stolen and brought home in his pocket the electric incandescent lamps of the drawing room of a friend's house. He also became strange in conduct and afflicted with megalomania, stating his income at three times its real amount.

In spite of this evidence, there were several contradictory points of view in the evidence of the experts. One of them promised to cure the prisoner of the drug habit within a week, while on the other hand, another expert said that 300 drops of opium would have a great effect on the whole system, not to speak of the 800 drops that Dreyer took at one time.

Case Causes Discussion

All the experts set the prisoner's mental capacity down as very weak, but the Court, deciding that the evidenes showed that he was in full possession of his senses at the time of each theft, sentenced him to three years' imprisonment.

The whole story of the case has caused much discussion of the point why it was that the man was not before in the hands of the police. His thefts were facilitated by the fact that he had in his possession a railway pass available on all the German railways. The origin of this pass was not explained. His arrest was finally the consequence of his own foolishness. He journeyed to Meran, in Austria, to offer to the victim of one of his thefts some information that might lead to the recovery of the stolen property, but he told his tale with such obvious departures from the truth that the man's suspicions were aroused, and the police were made acquainted with the facts.

Robert Dollar in Tow.

SEATTLE, March 13.—The steamship Robert Dollar, which lost her rudder seventy miles off the mouth of the Columbia River, has been taken in tow by the tug Goliah and is on the way to Seattle, according to a wireless message received tonight by Capt. Alexander Gow, port captain of the Robert Dollar Steamship Company. Captain Gow said a diver would be sent down to examine the Robert Dollar as soon as the vessel arrived here.

Construction begins this week on the Lulu Island branch of the Canadian Northern Pacific.

LEGISLATIVE CONTROL OF BETTING FAVORED

Gambling and Its Harmful Effects Is Burning Question at Convening of Charity Organization Society.

LONDON, March 13.—Gambling and its enormous increase, and the harmful effect it has on the wage-earning classes, was the subject discussed this week at a meeting convened by the Charity Organization Society, and held at Denison House, Vauxhall Bridge Road. Many of the speakers favored legislative control of betting, but others contended that it could not be suppressed, and that the problem could be best met by improved education or sound advice.

The following resolution was eventually carried;:

"The Council of the Charity Organization Society believes that the welfare of the working classes is adversely affected by the publication and circulation of bookmakers' advertisements and other inducements to gambling, and accordingly expresses approval of the Betting Inducements Bill introduced last year by Lord Newton."

Among the letters read were the following: From Lord Sanderson:

"Anyone who realizes to what extent the prevalence of gambling operates to increase poverty and to aggravate the condition of the poor, must feel it is a question in which the Charity Organization Society is deeply interested. At the same time we have to remember that we are aiming at a most difficult kind of social reform, and must be content with slow progress. The most that we can hope for in the way of legislation is the enactment of measures to restrict the offer of inducements and facilities for gambling, and to repress the operations of those who make a livelihood out of this particular human weakness. Any attempt to go too far in this direction will certainly result either in failure to carry the measure or inability to enforce it when carried. For these reasons I think Lord Newton's bill deserves our full support as a step in the right direction, even though it might not go so far as many would wish."

Canon Horsley's letter ran;:

Canon Horsley's Epigrams

"I once coined an epigram, 'Crime is condensed beer.' One might now say, 'Folly is consolidated coupons.' It will be a scandal if Lord Newton's bill is not promptly passed. It is indeed, a scandal that newspapers should receive the advertisements of noxious parasites expeled first from England and then from Holland."

The Rev. Hon. Edward Lyttelton, Head Master of Eton College, wrote;:

"The spread of gambling is due to deep-seated causes which cannot be remedied by any superficial measures; I mean, the undermining of home life and the feeble hold of religious principles in all classes. The spirit of the country needs changing before there can be any great diminution of the evil."

Dr. J. L. Paton, writing from Manchester Grammar School, said;:

"Gambling plays great havoc with our working lads. It is difficult to make them see it is wrong until they find themselves brought down to the 'husks that the swine do eat.' Commission agents have their touts working in the big mills, and we have to keep a sharp look-out to keep the brutes out of the working lads' clubs."

Lord Newton made a speech in the course of which he pointed out that a committee of the House of Lords, which included a bishop, came to the conclusion that betting was not a crime in itself, and that private betting was impossible to stop. In his view, the only practical course to adopt was to regulate it. He would like to regulate it by taxing bookmakers so that they would not find it a remuerative occupation. But there were objections to that course, one being that English Governments were, as a rule, credited elsewhere with that quality of hypocrisy with which foreign Governments were always anxious to dissociate themselves. They must make betting less easy.

Mr. John Hawke, of the National Anti-Gambling League, declared that "one of the best-known of our admirals" recently called at Scotland Yard and informed the authorities that there were times when the decks of the battleships were strewn with betting slips and coupons.

Crime Follows Gambling

Mr. Hawke recalled that ten years ago statistics were prepared and placed before a Parliamentary Committee, according to which in the preceding 15 years, 173 suicides and 827 cases of embezzlement had been due to gambling. At the beginning of last century there were 20 professional bookmakers, but at the beginning of the present century there were something like 30,000 men and women engaged wholly or partly in the trade.

Mr. Gerald Wellesley, a cousin of the Duke of Wellington, who has worked for several years at the Eton College Mission in the East End, created a diversion by saying a good word for the bookmaker.

"I am here as a professed gambler," he said. "It is my absolute conviction that no amount of legislation, good, bad, or indifferent, will make any difference to the amount of betting and gambling in this country. I have been gradually convinced, after my years of life among the casuals and the ne'er-do-wells in the East End, that the love of gambling is so ingrained in the British public that it will never be got rid of. I am absolutely opposed to legislation against or regulation of gambling.

"When one of my boys comes to ask my advice about gambling, if I were to say it was wrong and try to point out the sinfulness of it and its evil effects, he would go away and gamble, and not ask my advice again. But I say, 'Go and gamble. You're a mug if you do, because you don't know anything about it, but you can't lose more than the few coppers you've got in your pocket.' He loses and probably learns better.

"A more generous and kind-hearted lot than the bookmakers it would be impossible to find. I have found no one to help me more than the bookmakers of my neighborhood. Let us have as much good advice as we can get and give, but from the legislative measures of the spoil-sports and the anti-gamblers may heaven preserve us!"

Man-Making Clothes in a Greater Variety of Styles, Materials and Colorings Than Has Ever Been Seen in Victoria

Over $10,000 Worth of Suits to Choose From

THIS is a tall statement, but the showing of smart models in our showrooms amply bears out the statement. The fact is that we can go further and say that there is more style and better tailoring in any of these suits than has ever been put into first-class suits in the past.

"Proper Clothes" have introduced models for this season that surpass all their former achievements, and, to use a popular expression, "It means that they have gone some," because they have long been acknowledged to represent the highest pinnacle of the tailor's art.

Don't worry about the fit—we look after that, and will use our best judgment to give you a becoming suit that will have the appearance of having been made specially for you, and will give you clothes satisfaction while there is a thread left in them.

Models to fit and please men of all builds and ages. There are lightweight tweeds, handsome blue serges and cheviots, English worsteds in neat stripes and check effects, grey and brown diagonal cloths and a splendid showing of Bannockburn mixtures. See our special lines at $20.00, $25.00, $27.50 and $30.00

Our Hat Section Is Full of New and Interesting Models

Young men who want smart styles and the more conservative dresser will find many models here that will give them more satisfaction than anything they have previously purchased at the prices we quote below.

Many of our customers have told us that the hat is the finishing touch of a man's dress, and for this reason they are even more particular about the choice of their hat than any other garment.

We have taken this truth into consideration, and have chosen only those lines that we are absolutely confident will please Victorians. All the leading makers are represented in our showing, and there is such a variety of handsome shapes and choice colorings that choosing will be an easy matter.

The Mossant Soft Hat is a style that will please business men and men of conservative taste. Greys and browns are the leading colors, but there are others if you prefer them. Price $5.00

The Imperial is a brand of hat that is most popular with young men, and the range of colors and blocks is too wide to give a full description. A glance over these lines will convince you that no better hats are to be had at the price. We invite you to see them. Prices, $3.50 and $4.00

J. B. Stetson Soft Hats is another line that we strongly recommend. It is a brand that has won favor through its quality and style. There is a block here that will suit any face, and the prices are only $3.50 and $4.00

The Kenmore and the Fitwell Hard Hats are made of the best fur felt. Union labor is employed, and the degree of good taste that the hats express is very hard to beat. Quite a variety of blocks to choose from, and we consider them to be excellent values at $3.00 and $3.50

Roelof's and Stetson Hard Hats are lines that you can depend on. They are all that a fashionably dressed man can desire, and are full of comfort and good wearing qualities. Prices $4.50 and $5.00

An Easter Showing of Shirts at $1.50

A Demonstration of Quality and good taste rarely seen at this price, but only 8 dozen are to be sold.

This means that the early shoppers on Saturday morning will get the benefit of a special purchase of Negligee Shirts that our buyer was fortunate in securing below the market value.

They are Negligee Shirts, finished with a 2-inch cuff, and come in a variety of choice colorings and desirable patterns. The colors are fast and the tailoring is right up to the standard that we specify for our regular stock. We are confident that they will give you satisfaction, and are willing to replace any garment that fails to live up to the standard we have set for it. See the window display for this line.

Our special line of Neckwear at 75c is smarter than usual, and deserves special attention.

Suits for Boys—Tailor-Made and Show It in Every Detail

Boys will be boys, and, when they get into the humor for fun, all care for their clothes goes to the wind. For this reason, the boy's suit must be better tailored and be made of tougher materials than the average suit for men.

That's the style of clothes that you will buy at this store. We have made a close study of the requirements of boys' clothing, and have every reason to believe that we have secured a stock that will please the boys who wear them and give entire satisfaction to the parent who pays for them.

This season the styles are particularly smart, and our stock includes suitable models for boys of all ages.

Velvet and Velvet Cords are made up into very attractive Buster Brown suits. Some of them have the sailor, and others the military, collar. A variety of shades and combination colors are to be had, and the sizes are for boys from 2 to 7 years old. Prices, $5.00, $6.50 and $8.50

Tweed and Serge Suits, made on practical lines, have a very smart appearance, and are tailored with the same degree of skill that is shown in our best suits for men. Sizes for boys up to 18 years old. You can choose between the double-breasted and the Norfolk styles. Prices, $5.00 $7.50, $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00

FEW DIE IN FRANCE FROM OLD AGE CAUSE

Dr. Jacques Bertillon, Head of the Paris Statistical Department, Makes Interesting Statement

PARIS, March 13.—Very few people die of old age. Dr. Jacques Bertillon, head of the Paris Municipal Statistical Department, once more points out this regrettable fact in an interesting sheet of statistics compiled from the study of a man's diseases in relation to his occupation. From consumption to suicide, which grows more popular every day in France, Dr. Bertillon has left out none of the diseases which with the help of a small birth-rate, are gradually depopulating France.

Consumption, as Dr. Bertillon shows, is most frequent in the liquor trade and among those whose occupations expose them to lead poisoning. Next on the list under the same head come the occupations which entail the breathing of a dusty atmosphere, especially when the dust is of a hard variety. On the other hand, consumption is very rare among shopkeepers and all the liberal professions. Very few farm laborers die from consumption. In the liquor trade Paris statistics show that there are nearly three times as many cases of consumption between the ages of 35 and 55 as in any other occupation.

Cancer is rarest among farmers, railwaymen and miners, but not so rare among quarrymen. Cab and wagon drivers are frequently attacked by cancer. This disease is extraordinarily frequent among chimney sweeps, brewers and sailors in the merchant marine, but only the average number of fishermen die of it. Diabetes especially abounds among the liberal professions. Lawyers, doctors, druggists and clergymen are the greatest sufferers, and after them come in order: butchers, printers, dyers and commercial travelers.

The liquor trade is at the top of the list in the affections of the nervous system. Nervous diseases are far from being rare in Paris, but next to the [illegible] of trouble come street hawkers, casual laborers and lime manufacturers. After examining a hundred other diseases, such as influenza, pleurisy, digestive and other troubles of all kinds, Dr. Bertillon turns his attention to suicide. Here again the liquor trade heads the list, followed in order by druggists, hatters, hairdressers, butchers, glassmakers, potters, cabmen and metal workers.

If any moral can be drawn from the statistics it is that diabetes in Paris is the only disease which has any pretence to respectability, and that the safest profession of all is that of a clergyman, for, according to Dr. Bertillon's statistics, clergymen have fewer diseases and live longer than anyone else.

FRENCH TO EXPLORE FRANZ JOSEF LAND

Programme of Expedition Is Approved by Government and Authorization Made to Recruit Army and Navy.

PARIS, March 13.—Preparations are being made for the despatch of an official French expedition to Franz Josef Land under M. Jules de Payer, son of the Austrian Captain de Payer who commanded the Austrian expedition that discovered Franz Josef Land in 1873. M. Jules de Payer, who is a French citizen, has been for some time preparing himself for work in the Arctic regions by his studies in the Observatory Faculty of Science and the Meteorological Bureau. The programme of the expedition has been approved by the Government, and M. de Payer has been authorized to recruit members of the party from the Army and the Navy. M. de Payer's staff will consist of a naval lieutenant, a midshipman, two captains of the merchant marine, an army doctor and a navy doctor, a military airman, and a geologist. The object of the expedition is to explore the little-known northeastern portion of Franz Josef Land. A base will be established in the archipelago formed by Zicy Land, Liv, Eva, Adelaide, and Hvidtenland Islands. In order to avoid the disaster which befell Commander Payer's expedition, when his ship Tegethoff was crushed to pieces by ice, the ship of this fresh expedition will not winter in the Arctic seas. M. de Payer proposes to pass the winter at the base in scientific observations and in preparation for summer work, when a most varied programme of scientific investigation will be executed by means of a boat fitted with auxiliary power and two aeroplanes.

PAUL AND SPINTLAM TRIAL

Constable Fernie Gives Details of Pursuit After Alleged Murderers—New Charge Against Paul

KAMLOOPS, Mar. 13.—The Paul and Spintlam hearing was resumed this morning, Constable Fernie and a number of Indians taking all day to give evidence. Mr. Fernie's story traced the footprints from the scene of the shooting to where the two had evidently mounted on horseback. The footprints alongside the horse tracks from time to time indicated two men and one horse.

Later he found the place where camp had been made, and there found a pair of tan shoes, some buckskin-colored horse hair and indications that a horse had been shod there. The tracks were followed from there to a cache where they found a large quantity of provisions, cooking utensils, etc., and the remains of a fire yet warm.

The hurried pursuit was foiled by losing the tracks but they were ultimately picked up again and the chase resulted in the trackers finding themselves at Decker's, twenty miles beyond Bridge Creek, where they found two horses, a buckskin and a bay, both shod to correspond with the tracks they had followed. They also unearthed two saddles concealed in the brush, one of which was identified as that stolen from Andrew Neas at the Janes ranch the night after the shooting. The tan shoes were said by Indian trackers to correspond with the footprints found at the scene of the shooting.

Along the trail they also found the remains of two freshly killed deer and two shells, a .32 special and a .44.

Before adjournment was taken the Crown laid an information against Moses Paul, who is charged with killing Wm. White on July 4th, 1911, on the Cariboo road, four miles from Clinton, this being the case which resulted in the original charge against Moses Paul, his escape and the subsequent killing of a Chinaman and Kindness. Medical testimony showed that White's death was due to a fractured skull. Bloody stones found nearby were supposed to be the instruments used.

Stock Markets and Financial News

BEAR TRADERS TAKE COURAGE

Absence of Demand for Stocks Leads to Some Fresh Selling—Harriman Securities Helped by Dissolution Plan.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Prices moved in an uncertain way on the stock exchange today, ending the session with generally advanced prices. Bears attacked the list sharply at the outset. Depressions of the European markets and absence of the foreign buying such as has been a feature of the last two days fostered bearish sentiment.

Call money rates held firm, although 5½ per cent was the top rate, as compared with six yesterday. A further break occurred in the foreign exchange rates, but in spite of this change the engagement of $700,000 gold for Berlin and $2,000,000 for Paris was announced. In view of these circumstances and the pronounced disinclination to speculate on the long side on account of money conditions, bear traders felt justified in putting out new lines. Selling was on a limited scale, however, and the market gradually rallied and grew dull.

The most positive feature of the day occurred just after receipt of news from Washington that a new plan for dissolution of the Harriman properties had been presented to the Attorney-General, with indications that it had been received favorably. On the strength of this Union Pacific mounted three points above its previous level, closing with a net gain of two points. Southern Pacific, Reading, Steel and Amalgamated established gains of half as much on the the accompanying rally in the general list.

New Haven was conspicuously weak, falling to 120½, well below the recent low price, which was the bottom figure since 1875. Unfavorable statements of the earnings influenced the selling.

Owing to the firmer conditions in the money market there was some calling of loans by financial institutions, which was reflected chiefly in specialties, a number of which were weak.

Several of these stocks, including Beet Sugar, Goodrich and Corn Products preferred made new low records for the decline.

Bonds showed some irregularity with a downward tendency. Total sales, par value, $1,400,000. United States Bonds were unchanged on call.

GRAIN MARKETS

WINNIPEG, March 13.—The market was fairly quiet all morning until the close, when there was a slight flurry. Cash demand was fair, but not quite so active as on Wednesday, as export was quieter, although bids were plentiful and fairly in line. A feature was the little influence the weakness in American markets seemed to have on Liverpool.

Price Current today published the first suggestion of damage to Winter wheat, and though it was only tentative, it will, no doubt, be followed by others. The local market was strong in tone and closed ⅛ to ⅜c. higher. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower and flax lost ⅜. Offerings of all grains were light. Chicago market was moderately active and closed ¼ to ⅜c. lower. Corn was unchanged, ⅜ lower to ⅜ higher, and oats fractionally lower. Minneapolis was strong, closing ½c. up for May, unchanged for July and ½c. lower for September. The spread between Winnipeg and Minneapolis May option at the close was 2⅞ in favor of Winipeg. A narrowing of this spread is looked for tomorrow. Flax was dull, with only fractional changes in the price. For the first time Duluth flax was officially quoted on the Winnipeg board. Receipts were light, but there were 600 cars in sight for the day.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, March 13.—Local stocks continued to work forward to slightly higher levels today, and net gains predominated at the close. The movement, however, was slight, and once more narrow and not without irregularity. The feeling of caution has characterized the market attitude on the recovery from Monday's slump was not lessened by the erratic movement of C. P. R. stock, which had a slight setback in London and at one time showed more pronounced weakness in New York.

The late rally in New York, which carried it to its highest level for the day here and in New York in the final transactions caused some of the early hesitation and brought a close practically at the best prices of the day. Early cables on C. P. R. were reassuring to the local market but reacted in London later, due apparently to high money rates this time, rather than to selling pressure from Berlin, resulted in opening here 222¾, or ½ below the close Wednesday. It broke quickly in the early trading to 221¾, more than a point below the low of the previous day, but again a firmer feeling developed and there was a recovery back to the opening level.

After a fairly active market in the morning only 800 shares changed hands in the afternoon, with the price advancing steadily from 222⅛ at the opening to 224 in the last sale. The net change was a gain of ⅜ with a close firm at 223⅜ asked.

Movements elsewhere excited only slight interest. Montreal Power opened slightly lower at 220, scored a light advance in the morning and with C. P. R. rose to its highest of the day, 221¼ in the final transactions, closing that price bid. The net change was a gain of ⅜. Other gains were Textile, ⅜; Iron, ⅛; Quebec Railway, 1. Brazilian was dull and slightly reactionary, closing ¼ lower. Movements in the less active stocks were less erratic.

LONDON EXCHANGE

LONDON, March 13.—The stock market developed irregularity, with a sagging tendency, today on further liquidation in Berlin, where the banks were evidently restricting lending facilities, and, despite the the conclusion of the settlement here without trouble, the market closed easy. Consols declined ⅛, but home rails were steady. American securities opened steady and from ⅛ to ⅞ above parity.

Berlin selling depressed a part of the list during the first hour, and later the Wall Street opening caused a general decline. Prices rallied in the last hour and made the close steady. Money was in restricted supply and discount rates were steady.

Bank of England

LONDON, March 13.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserves increased £104,000; circulation increased £167,000; bullion decreased £63,297; other securities increased £2,113,000; other deposits increased £45,000; public deposits increased £2,129,000; note reserves increased £223,000; Government securities decreased £1,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 41.47 per cent; last week it was 42.69 per cent.

Bullion amounting to £23,000 was taken into the Bank of England on balance today. Discount rates were: Short bills, 5 to 5⅛ per cent; 3 months, 4 15/16 to 5 per cent.

M. DELCASSE AT ST. PETERSBURG

London Times Discusses Significance of Appointment of French Ambassador to Russia—The Incident of 1905.

M. Delcasse has been appointed to be the French Ambassador at St. Petersburg, says The London Times in a recent editorial article. In this, his first nomination to a great diplomatic post, the new President of the Republic brings back to the domain of foreign affairs the statesman who perhaps has done more than any living man to establish the foreign policy of France on a firm and enduring basis. His name will always be remembered in this country as that of the Minister who ably and heartily worked with Lord Lansdowne to settle the old differences which divided us from our French neighbors and to create our present cordial relations with them. In Russia his many services to the alliance, and in particular his attitude during the war with Japan and his good offices at the time of the Dogger Bank incident, have won him the regard of the Court and of the nation as a true and faithful friend. In St. Petersburg, as well as in London and in Paris, it is recognized that the Triple Entente is the natural outcome of the entente between England and France. Without the Anglo-French Agreement the Anglo-Russian Agreement could hardly have been made, and it is the existence of these two agreements which now constitutes one of the twin pillars on which rests the peace of the world. M. Delcasse, our Paris correspondent reminds us, held the portfolio of Foreign Affairs longer than any French statesman has done since M. Guizot. He was at the Quai d'Orsay under a succession of Governments for seven years, and in that period he gave to the foreign policy of France a consistency and continuity which it had not before possessed since the establishment of the Republic. The system which he thought out and applied has remained the basis of French policy since his downfall in memorable circumstances in 1905. Its object was to restore France to the place which is legitimately hers amongst the nations of Europe and to secure peace by securing the balance of power. M. Delcasse sought to effect it by entering into friendships and alliances with other States which should act as a counterpoise to the Triple Alliance. He cultivated the intimate relations which already existed between France and Russia, he settled once and for all, the old controversies with ourselves, and he concluded a Mediterranean agreement with Italy and extinguished the animosity which had long existed between her and her French neighbor.

We need not now revert to the causes of M. Delcasse's resignation in 1905. With the settlement of the Morocco question, all conceivable grounds for German objections to his return to the field of foreign affairs must have disappeared. There are, of course, aggressive patriots in Germany who may affect to see in his nomination an alarming portent, as they did when he entered the Monis Cabinet, but we are confident that no uneasiness will be felt in any responsible quarter. The attitude of authoritative opinion in Germany is indicated by the language used in German semi-official organs when M. Delcasse resumed office as a Minister two years ago. The North-German Gazette observed that his appointment as Minister of Marine was not "in any way remarkable," and declared that there was no reason why Germany should not look with complete impartiality upon the ministry which he had joined. The Cologne Gazette amplified this view when, after the fall of this administration in June, M. Delcasse was mentioned as a possible Prime Minister. Germany, it affirmed, "occupies an attitude equally objective towards every ministry in France" and judges its members solely by their actions, and it expressly declared that these statements would hold good even should the new Premier be M. Delcasse. That, we have not much doubt, is the spirit in which official Germany and the great majority of sensible Germans will look upon that statesman's present appointment. The head and front of his offending, to the Pan-German mind is, of course, that he succeeded in drawing together the powers of the Triple Entente. But Germany herself has recognized that the Triple Entente, like the Triple Alliance, has proved its usefulness "for the maintenance of equilibrium and peace." The long experience of the new French ambassador at the Foreign Office, and the breadth of view which he undeniably possesses, are themselves guarantees that he is not likely to initiate or to support any tendencies to adventures which, as he well knows, might wreck the great work of his life.

Why is the Newspaper the Best Advertising Medium?

BECAUSE it has its loyal constituency. It penetrates at every point and is essential to man's daily peace. No fear of its not being sold. The people want it, must have it and will have it. Magazines may die and will not be seriously missed. Destroy the newspaper and you have the nation restless and ill at ease.

ASQUITH ST.—50x120, 5-roomed bungalow, new, up-to-date; $4200. Esquimalt Development Co., 5-6 Kent blk., Esquimalt.

AS a cheap close in home or investment this is in a class by itself. Home of 9 rooms close to the half mile circle for only $4,750. This price seems almost incredible but we have instructions to immediately dispose of this property at the figure quoted, regardless of big loss to the owner. This house was built four years ago at an actual cost of $8,500. A conservative estimate of the value of the lot alone is $2,000. There must be no delay in the disposal of same, hence the price. We have no hesitation in recommending this as an extraordinary opportunity to secure a valuable piece of property at considerably less than market value. Terms arranged. National Realty Co., 1232 Government st.

AMPHION ST.—Close to car, a handsome seven-roomed house consisting of hall, sittingroom, diningroom, den, kitchen, large pantry, two separate toilets, three bedrooms upstairs, large bathroom, full sized cement basement and furnace, laundry tubs, size of lot 64x120 with stone wall in front. PORT HARDY—The deep water townsite on Hardy Bay; lots from $140 up; terms, $25 cash and $15 per quarter; there is no doubt but that the railway systems on Vancouver Island will be extended to this magnificent harbor, which is on the trade route from Seattle, etc., to Alaska, etc. We have sold lots, etc., at this point to leading citizens in B.C., aggregating about $200,000.

ABOUT 50 miles from Victoria, 550 acres more or less; 70 acres in plow, about 300 acres pasture; a splendid dairy farm. Would sell readily in 5-acre blocks. Near town, rail and sea.

BETWEEN Nanaimo and Comox, between 1600 and 2000 acres good land; would divide into small farms.

4000 acres waterfront on east coast of Vancouver Island; protected waters; the cheapest area of wild land we have. Only $10 per acre.

ABOUT 46 miles from Victoria, a choice area of Crown grant land; $14 per acre; the timber alone can be sold to practically cover the total cost.

THE finest estate near Victoria for sale; would make a magnificent subdivision; good water; railroad, etc.; payments over many years.

SAANICH—About 100 acres excellent land, cleared; splendid for subdividing; near tramway and harbor, Saanich Inlet.

PORT HARDY—The deepwater townsite at Hardy Bay; on account of the developments now taking place at this townsite, the price of the lots has been raised. Lots even now can be purchased from $140, on easy terms.

INTERIOR LANDS—We have several fine areas of lands for sale from a few sections to large areas.

KOKSILAH RIVER—About ½-mile river frontage; $40 per acre; excellent fishing and shooting.

JAMES BAY—Splendid corner lot with house rented for $60 per month.

SOOKE—A large number of properties of every description.

Tenders for Freighting Supplies for the Yukon Telegraph Line
EXTENSION OF TIME

The time for receiving tenders for the freighting of supplies for the Yukon Telegraph Line in the course of the seasons of 1913, 1914 and 1915, is hereby extended to Friday, April 4, 1913. Tenders are to be sealed, endorsed "Tender for Packing Supplies," and addressed to the undersigned.

Forms of tender and specification may be obtained and form of contracts seen on application to Mr. J. T. Phelan, Superintendent of Government Telegraphs, Vancouver, B. C., Mr. Wm. Henderson, District Superintendent Government Telegraphs, Victoria, B. C., and from the Government Telegraph Agents at Ashcroft, B. C., Quesnelle, B. C., Hazelton, B. C., and Telegraph Creek, B. C.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 per cent) of the amount of the tender, for one year's packing, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, February 18, 1913.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.—36295.

VICTORIA TRANSFER COMPANY

Horses for Sale

We have horses of all classes for sale and are ready at all times to exhibit such to intending purchasers. It will pay you to see us before purchasing.

Harness for Sale

We have new and second-hand sets—double and single—for sale at reasonable rates. Farmers should see these, as they are suitable for light driving.

Cabs

Do you know that our Glass Front Carriages are at your disposal at $2.00 per hour?

Victorias

If you wish, we can furnish a Victoria at $2.50 per hour. These vehicles accommodate three persons, and are most suitable for ladies doing afternoon calling.

Livery

Better Single or Double Traps cannot be found on the Pacific Coast. Single Horse and Trap—Morning, $2.50; Afternoon, $3.00.

Boarders

We board your horse, look after your trap and harness—Per month, $25.00. Our object is to please our patrons. We are responsible to them as to safety and damage done to furniture or goods. Our drivers, we believe, are civil and careful, and seldom knowingly overcharge. If by any chance a mistake occurs, come to the office or notify us at once. In other words, give us an opportunity to put right anything that displeases you.

Teams

We are prepared to supply teams for half a day at $5.00, excepting Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, when the charge will be, half a day, $7.50. For long distance, the office will furnish particulars.

Furniture Trucks

Furniture moving is an important undertaking. We have men who do nothing else. Our charges are, by the hour, $1.50. With an extra man to help, the charges will be increased to $2.00 per hour.

Baggage and Express

In this department prompt delivery is the important factor. If you are catching a steamer or train, you like to know that your luggage or packages will be at the wharf or station in good time to depart with you. What is more annoying than searching for your belongings a minute before your steamer sails or your train pulls out? This is offset by our claim checks. Our drivers check your baggage at your residence. You present the claim check to the baggage master—show your ticket—he then gives you the railway or steamer check, and that is all. You then go on your way rejoicing. If we cannot attend to your order we will tell you and thus avoid suspense.

Express and General Drayage

We have thirty-seven Express and Delivery Wagons. For the use of these we make a charge of—per hour, $1.00.
